CINCINNATIAN

Dusk silhouettes the big city—
blending people, lights, shadow, and sound into a tone-picture.
Crowds make their way home to dinner and sleep, while we travel on with the thoughts of registration lines and morning classes. This, the autumn picture known to all who return to Cincinnati and its University.

The call of the wild was summoning us again. College life had beckoned us from summer hibernations and the spirit of youth was upon us. After cramming the room into our age-old baggage and wearing out the family phone with last minute good-byes, we were Cincinnati bound. The aisles of the train were teeming with college buddies swaying back and forth from the club car to the diner. There were bridge games, buzzing with "no trump, pass, and double" and many window gazers with summer romances still fresh in their memories. Songs of all sorts sprang up at regular intervals and before we had time to sit down to enjoy the "Ladies Home Journal," we stepped onto hollowed ground. Cincinnati—we're back to the big city of beer, the symphony, and the ball club, where the college man and woman are only a small part of life in the big time.

Breaking over the horizon of the seventh hill were the rolling lawns of the University. Crowded walks and wooden barracks now replace the space we previously could stretch in. The "new look" has found its way into every nook and corner of the old Alma Mater, and the grass is holding its own with the help of sarcastic signs. A good job of face lifting has given the library interior a look of green serenity instead of weatherbeaten tan. We were home—for home is where the heart is, so they say.

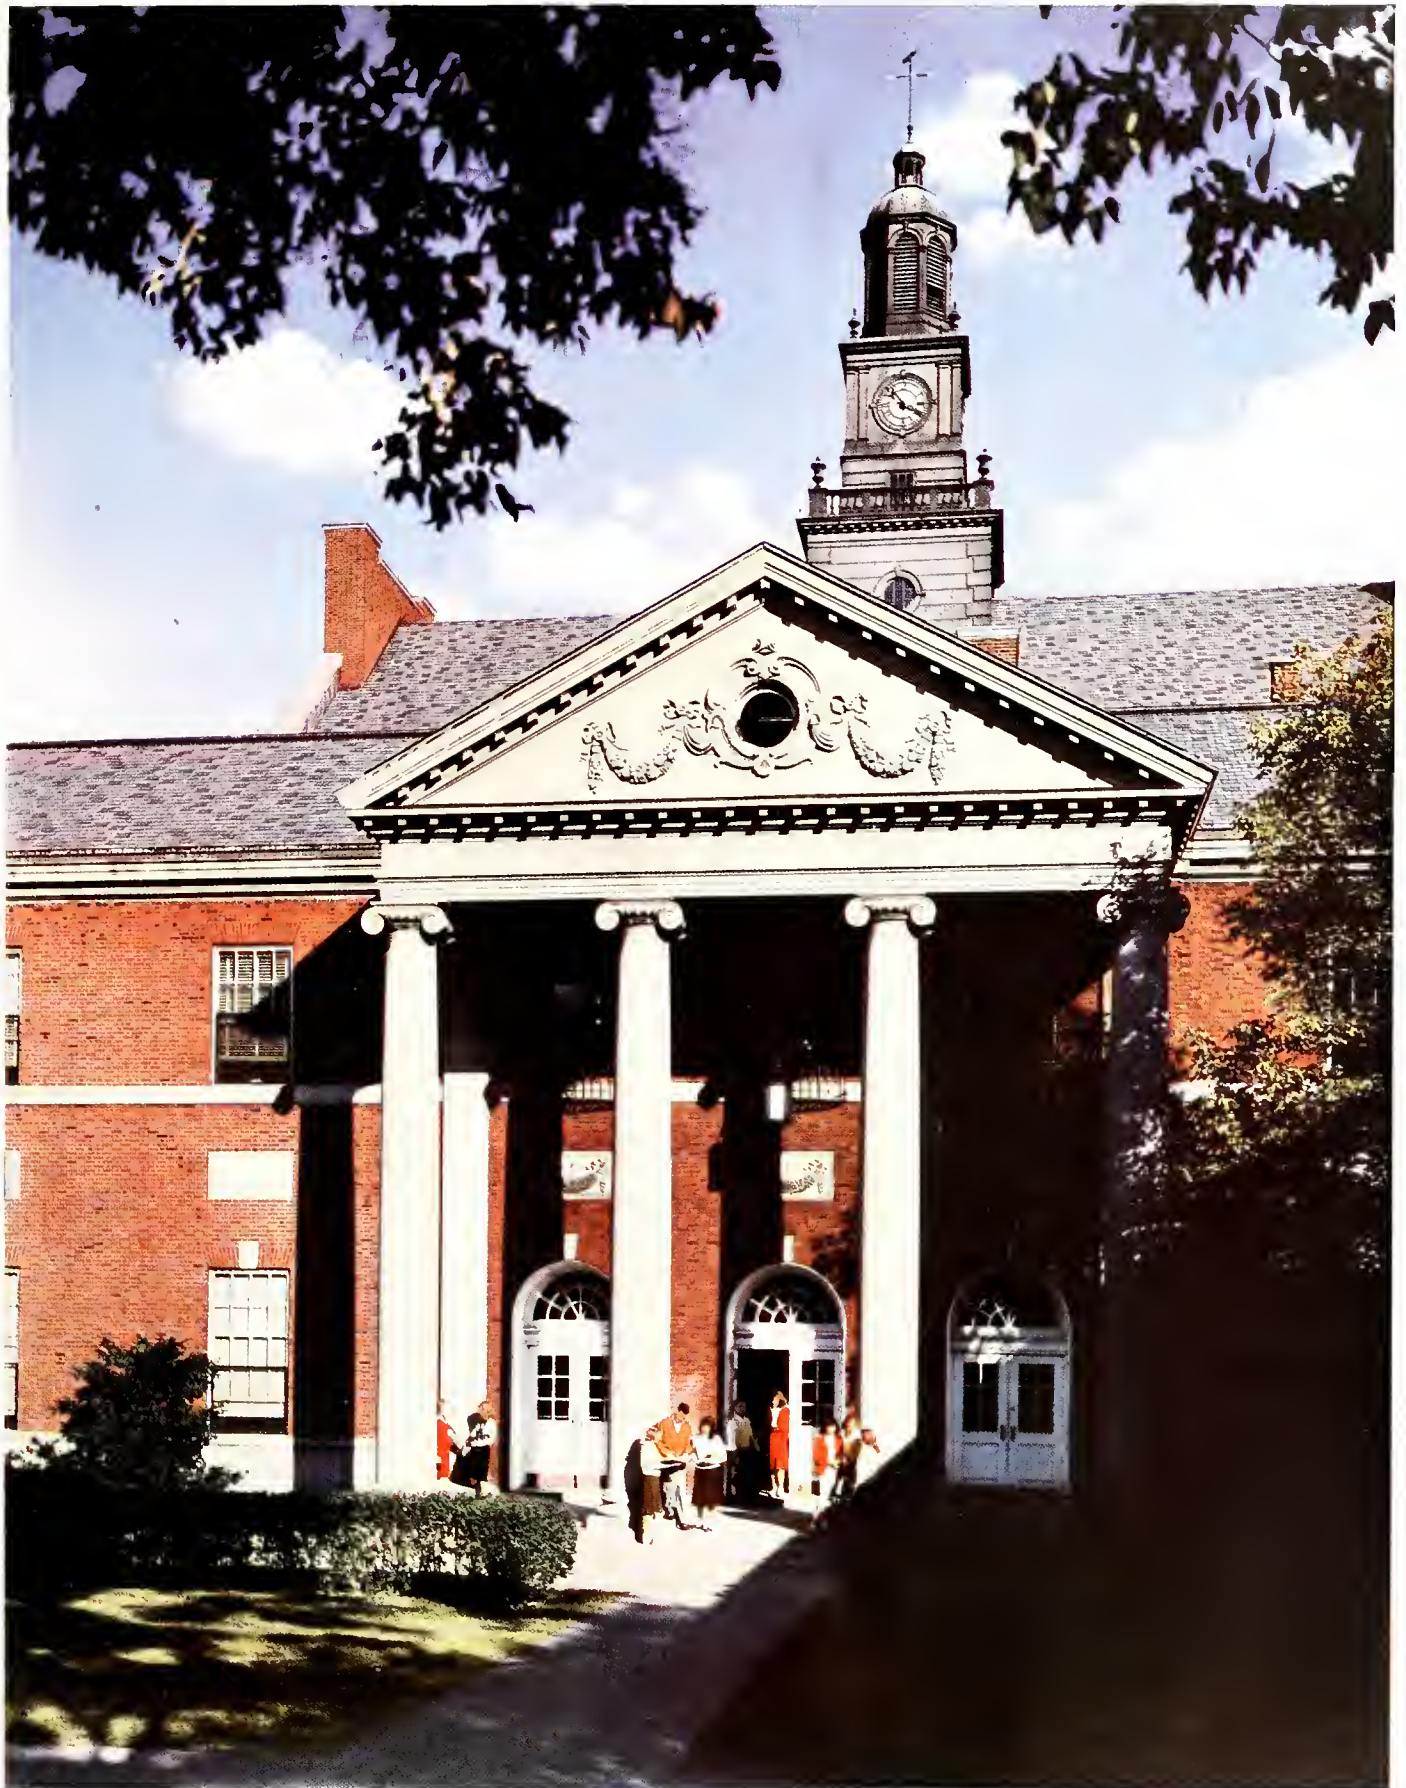

Descending from the Seven Hills, town students start the day with the trolley song. A clang, a ding, and a jolt!

Early morning smog, feet fall heavy on the path, sleepy hellas—and another day begins.

Night and day they ring. The chimes recall old memories, while new adventures unfold in the Union below.

After nervously paying the taxi-driver and grobbing our over-stuffed suitcases, we hurried into the Dorm. Progress to our newly assigned rooms was slow as old acquaintances stopped us in the halls. The romance that had come and gone since we last saw each other could wait no longer to be told. The trek to the room finally completed, we changed from our new woolens into our immortal blue jeans and munched on soyas and cheese while trying to find our baggage keys.

Suitcases were at last emptied and sadly set into the holls to take care of themselves until Thanksgiving vacation. We were on our way to see how the rest of the world was making out. Everyone seemed to be in the same dilemma over too much equipment and too little room. The "new look" dragged on the closet floor, and stuffed animals vied with doll collections for living quarters. Bare rooms were being brightened by snapshots and pictures of hometown heart throbs. We tried to cheer the misty-eyed freshmen by wise, consoling wards and traded precious diminishing brownies for thankful smiles.

Consciences reminded us of our own barren room and we again turned interior decorators. Sears and Roebuck was our destination. After carefully looking over the entire household department, we triumphantly returned to the dorm. This time we were ready to drop the "Bates" and level off the floor. What ideas my roommate had! Could she possibly think that "Whistler's Mother" looked good over my bed? She could hang her formals on the wall, but she was not using my fur coat for a bear rug, even if it did give the room a certain "warm touch!" Making further dents in the box of food from home, we worked on and on. Soon, all that was lacking was an extension for the radio cord, and then these four walls become home sweet home.

MEMORIAL DORM

"Be It Ever So Humble There's No Place Like Home" chant the Memorial Dorm girls as they run back and forth from class to their inter-sanctums. Divided into three units plus the mystic tower, the dorm runs smoothly under their able leaders. Those lucky girls are the envy of all, as they sleep till 8:15 every morning and still make classes on time. But come Friday and Saturday parties, the out-of-towners must leave early to meet time restrictions or else suffer the consequences. Away from Mother's watchful eye, the girls ignore study hours and rush to formals, old clothes parties, and inter-dorm dinners.

The loyal order of the red-black extends membership to the men who daily risk their lives crossing University Avenue to reach their barracks dorms. Here, snuggled midst acres of filled in parking space, is found refuge from the daily battle of U.C.

The rest of the campus commandos remember windows lit all night in the barracks boys' bungalow. Maybe this illumination meant sessions of study, but then, who will tell?

It's a wonder what a few years will do —most of us are still running around in remnants of khaki shirts, or "P" coats, but that old-salt look is gone forever, and the smiling face that peers up from that "Calc" book or from behind that hand of Pinochle is none other than "Joe College" himself. Army life was never like this! "Of course, the bunks are just as hard, and the latrines look vaguely familiar, but none of us ever worked this hard during the war . . . What was you say? Haven't you heard? Drap down to the "barracks" some day, and you might catch a word or two of a "sea story" floating around.

It has been a long while, a heck of a long while, since we traded in an old fatigue for a pink apron, and a quonset hut for a cottage for two. Things are finally looking up and life is beaming again—almost. It's still a tough grind and all uphill to that Degree, but we're getting there diaper by diaper.

The honeymoon is over, and we are somehow squeezed into a 5 x 5 pre-fab without a southern exposure. Living in a cheese box isn't all cheese, but we had plenty of laughs along with cramped muscles.

The old saying about there always being room for one more has been replaced by the comforting thought that there isn't even room for a mother-in-law! That amazing new soap sensation had to be replaced by something that didn't full the whole house at the first sudsing. The large economy size toothpaste gave way to the small extravagant tube that does so much to the $90 and a prayer that we live on.

Holidays are the most fun of all. Our turkey had to be the size of an under-fed sparrow to fit in the oven, and even then its beak hung out. Christmas offered even more problems—we had no fireplace. After listening to the craziest explanations, Junior really believed that Santa Claus would come in through the ceiling ventilator, but it was hanging the stockings under the kitchen sink that really threw him. A New Year's Eve at jammed Fountain Square had nothing on our crowded living room as we rubbed elbows with our next-door neighbors.

Homework was done under the dripping diaper line, and these were written while we burned Johnson's "midnight" Baby Oil. And to coin a phrase, "Home was always like this!"

AND THE REST OF US LIVE AT HOME, spending most of our time and weekly allowances on streetcar trips and "enjoying" the scenery to and from classes. Mother has a tough time rolling us out of bed in time to make those 8:30's, but a quick orange juice and a big shove out of the front door usually give us enough energy to keep running the rest of the day. It never fails that just when we're in the midst of the daily brain twister for tech mech, little brother encourages the radio to blare out with "Lone Ranger" or the like. But "There's no place like home", and it looks like we're stuck with it.

ORIENTATION BOARD

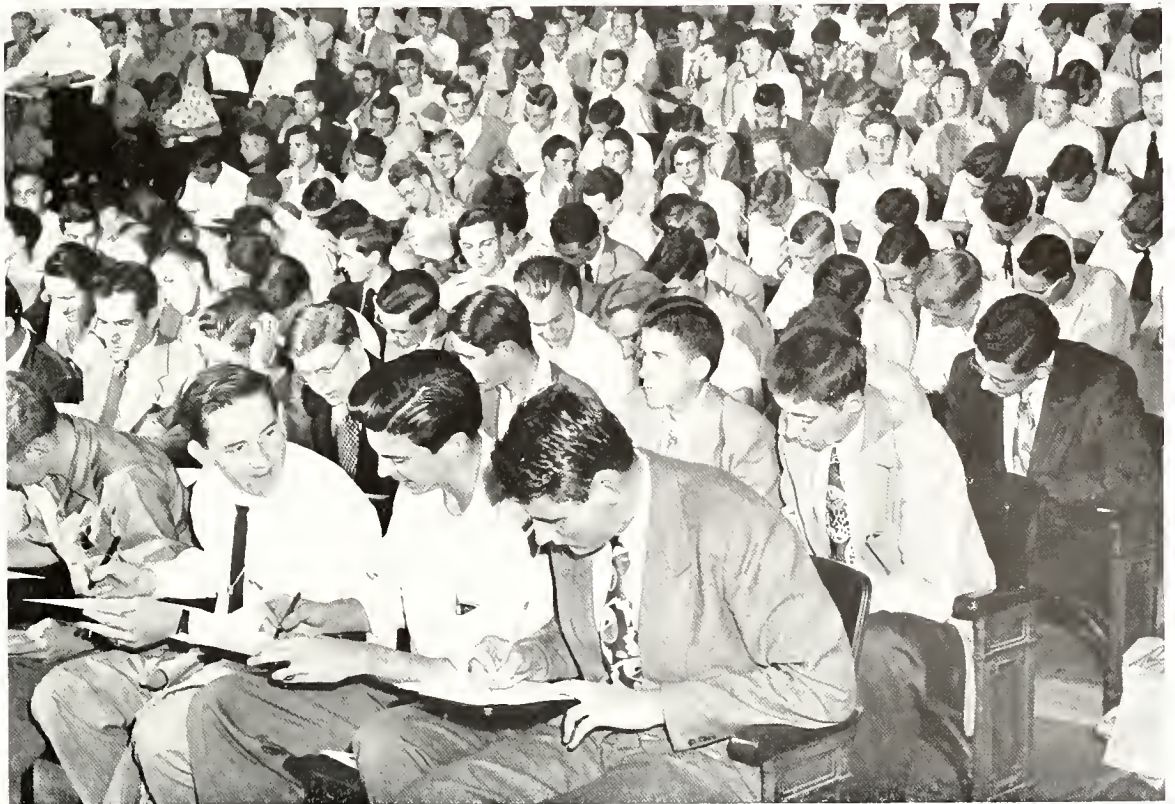

The biggest function of the Orientation Board might be symbolized by a pointing finger. The job of directing the large influx of freshmen each fall to unknown buildings becomes a week-long chore. And as it always happens, there is the senior who still must be directed to the Physics Building.

In the summer of 1947 the Orientation Board gave a short program for one hundred and eight students, who were either new or transferring to the University. At this time the Orientation Board proctored the Psychological and the Vocational Interest tests. The tests were followed by a dinner in the Student Union where special entertainment was provided. In the fall of 1947 the board had a program for the freshmen and transfer students. This was the major function of the year. Due to the difference of one week in the time of registration for the different colleges, the Orientation Board had two separate programs. Both of the programs started with a welcoming address by President Walters. Later the same day the new students were given the opportunity of meeting their respective tribunals. Here, they learned the many facilities, services, traditions, and activities the university has to offer. The Orientation Board closed the 1947-48 program with the annual Freshman open house and dance. Music, food, and special entertainment were provided, and the new students had a chance to meet their fellow class mates. As an extra attraction for the out-of-town students, the Orientation Board sponsored a city-wide sight seeing trip by streetcar.

It might have been a perfect autumn day, but we had to pretend we didn't notice. Freshmen tests came above all else, and we found ourselves bending over pages and pages of printed questions. Crowded into the huge lecture amphitheater, we fought a losing battle. Ever-suspicious proctors roamed the room while someone at the front desk kept screeching "Time is up! Turn the page!" Although they did allow us three minutes to read the directions, it seemed as if the actual test time limit was three seconds. But it did give us a chance to make groaning acquaintances with those sitting next to us, and we began to feel more at home.

After a morning of filling out "Please Print, Last Name First" registration blanks, we joined the ranks and file that found themselves waiting to get into the Registrar's office. Remembering the long winding lines back in the days of khaki and blue, we stood for hours—only to emerge with a stamped card, totaled bill, and empty bill-fold. Next on a Registration day schedule comes the long, long line that forms in front of the bookstore. "Slow-moving line, isn't it?" is the stock phrase of the friendly people who optimistically look on this line as the place to make all their acquaintances for the year to come. The hands on the clock over the Grill moved at the same turtle-pace as our feet, but somehow before the long day was over, we reached the popular boys behind the book-order blanks.

For a word of welcome, we migrate to Wilson Auditorium. In the home of Mummers' plays and distinguished lectures, we now find President Walters on stage to extend a verbal handshake.

President Raymond Walters originated the endeavor to make this a friendly "hello" campus. Numerous and varied tasks confront the president of such an educational institution as ours. It is well to know that at U.C. we have a qualified educational and human leader as the liaison between faculty, students, alumni, and the city.

Throughout the nation, President Walters is renowned for his annual surveys of over 700 approved universities and colleges, published in a weekly educational publication, and reprinted by Associated and United Press. As Chairman of a seven-man Committee of American Council of Education, the President makes monthly train or plane trips to Washington, D. C., to help coordinate educational and governmental relations.

His doctrine of attaining high human values parallel to educational standards makes the human side of college more tangible. All the while President Walters makes great strides in the educational world.

Norman P. Auburn, as vice president and Dean of University Administration, finds the financial affairs and problems of the whole University laid on his desk. The job is arduous, but one for which Dean Auburn is well qualified. Dean Auburn has played an influential part in the establishment of an effective program in coordination with the Board of Student Activity, the Union Board, and the Board of Publications. His executive ability has made him a very important figure at the University of Cincinnati.

Benjamin Tate

Little is known about the tremendous responsibility that falls upon the shoulders of the University of Cincinnati Board of Directors. Nine of Cincinnati's civic, industrial, and professional leaders gather monthly to discuss matters of student and faculty policy. This group of men has much to do in the coordination of athletic, social, and academic functions.

Ranging from posting "No Smoking" signs to the approval of granting academic degrees, the Board is consistently faced with new and trying problems. The reward of their labors was clearly illustrated when the U.C. tax levy was passed by a large majority last November.

Dean Katherine D. Ingle

"Always ready to help"; that is the attitude of the Dean of Women, Katherine D. Ingle. Aided by a staff of able assistants, Dean Ingle holds open house for all girls—with or without problems. Into her ears go the troubles that almost any college girl fall heir to, and out of this department's thinking-heads emerge the solutions. In addition to this almost overwhelming task, she works in close connection with the women's activity groups. Thus it is that Dean Ingle's own daughter finds herself shoring her mother with every coed on campus.

Dean Robert W. Bishop

Known throughout the nation as national secretary of both Omicron Delta Kappa and the Association of College Honor Societies, Dean Robert W. Bishop is known around U.C. campus as Dean of Men. As adviser to the Inter-Fraternity Council, Men's Senate, Social, and Union Boards, Dean Bishop has much to do with student life. Results of a man's intelligence and psychological tests, and records of grades and activities aid in individual conferences of a personal, scholastic or financial nature.

With notebooks in hand, we whistle our way up the pathways to campus. The first day of semester Number One was on its way. A quick cup of coffee in the Grill and then, to that 8:30. Professors would be gayer than usual; pencils would be sharper and roll calls would take longer. Somehow, we're reminded, "This is it!" Classes had started.

APPLIED ARTS

DEAN ERNEST PICKERING is the man who guides our young would-be artists through their drawing board dilemma. Always ready to hear troubles and to help, he is the mainstay of the college.

Never let it be said that the Applied Arts students have not left their mark on the campus. Even in the Grill you can spot their tackle boxes and drawing board as they pause before an all night session in Swift Hall—cursing their Seventh Week dead lines.

Distracting abstractions give these smocked students their frantic look, in spite of the Tribunal's steering "wheels." Beaux Arts Ball, Christmas Egg Nog Party, and Freshman Mixer outshine their ink-splotched ideas.

SEATED—Janszen, E.; Archea, M.; Mathers, M.; Keller, A.

STANDING—Ahrens, A.; Balce, E.; McDevitt, S.; Amendolara, T.; Aman, A.; Carnell, F.

So well remembered among our college's honorary groups is Delta Phi Delta, the largest of the National art honoraries. Ranking high in their long list of activities is the annual scholarship awards that this year was earned by three outstanding students. An active pledge class sponsored a Christmas sale of student art work thereby increasing the groups scholarship fund. In addition to this more serious work, the fraternity has enjoyed several theater parties.

Delta Phi Delta, whose main endeavor is to recognize outstanding scholastic and artistic abilities, will again be host to the National convention of the fraternity to be held in Cincinnati this June.

SCARAB

ROW I (Seated)—Hodell, J. E.; Freitag, W. H.; Breting, K.; Clark, D.; West, G. R.

Scarab, the oldest architectural professional fraternity, was founded to produce a finer quality of work through good fellowship and a competitive spirit. The group took inspection trips during the spring in order to see architectural projects in the neighboring states. Among its activities, Scarab had a summer initiation, and gave a water-color dance in the grill.

The central function of the American Institute of Architects is the promotion of interest in the architectural field. Among its activities, it brings professional architects to speak at its meetings on present day trends in designing and planning. This student chapter was formed at U. C. in 1945.

STANDING Glozier, C.; Scharfenberger, I.; Hagan, E.; Suddendorf, R.; Jones, P.; Naber, J.; Lange, J.; Schlereth, B.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION TRIBUNAL

The students of the College of Business Administration emerge from the Quadrangle every seven weeks, loaded down with red penciled work sheets, used blue books, and well-thumbed cost books. On the co-op plan most of these hardy individuals enter the business world for seven-week periods of practical demonstration. In cooperation with the Tribunals of other colleges, the Bus. Ad. Tribunal worked to promote the pep rally before the U.C.-Butler game. On their social calendar for the year were the March 5 dance which students from all colleges of the campus attended, the Senior Banquet, and an all Bus. Ad. picnic in May.

PI CHI EPSILON

ROW I—Stockmeyer, T.; Vice President; Zukermon, B., President; Foy, M., Secretary-Treasurer; Boland, B.; Corresponding Secretary.
ROW II—Justice, F.; Woolsey, E. J.; Kettas, B.; Sloneker, M.; Schwon, J.

Pi Chi Epsilon is the honorary organization for women in the Colleges of Engineering and Business Administration. Each year a scholarship is awarded, and recognition is given to the most deserving girl in each class. All incoming freshmen are given a tea, which is later followed by a Christmas party. And as a final tribute to the scholarship and good character, the outstanding senior girl is awarded the Pi Chi Epsilon ring.

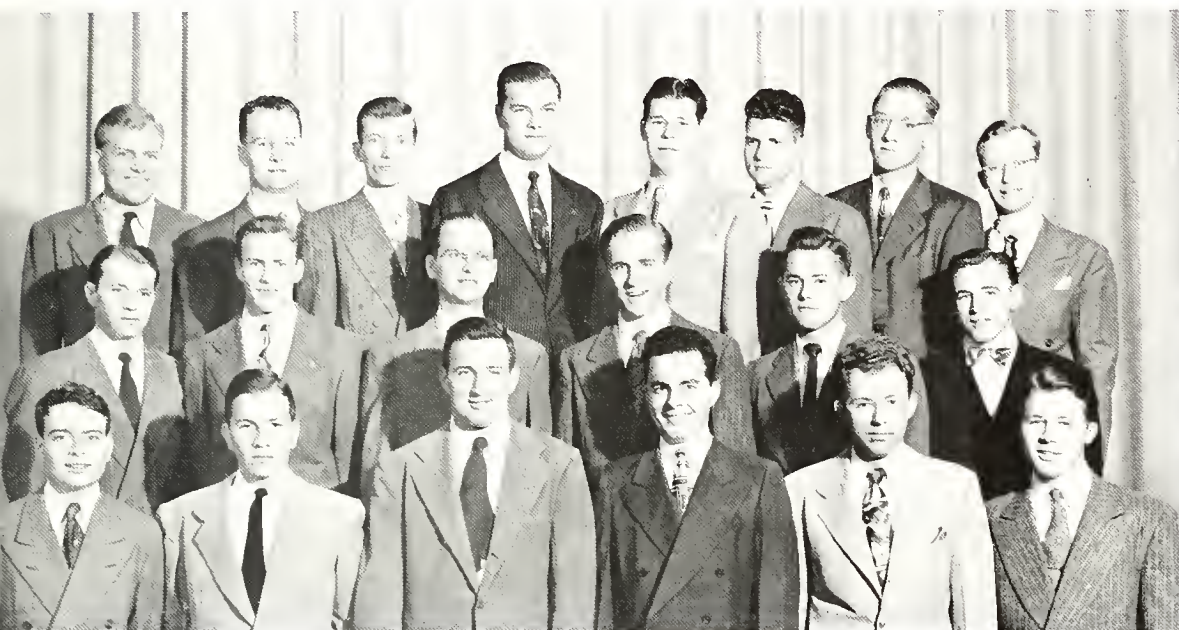

Men and women in Business Administration attaining the highest scholastic standing in the junior and senior years are elected to Beta Gamma Sigma. An initiation for twenty-one new members was held in November at which time Dean Barbour of the College of Liberal Arts spoke. A twenty-fifth anniversary initiation took place in March at which several outstanding alums were the speakers. An "Accountant's Handbook" was awarded to the most deserving sophomore in the College of Business Administration.

ROW I (Seated) Corson, A. I.; Seidel, C.; Sloneker, M.; Forber, C.
ROW II (Standing)—Gordon, W.; Glozier, C. A.; Stroebe, P. G.; Lynch, J. R.; Zweigel, R. L.

BETA GAMMA SIGMA

Achievement in scholarship and outstanding participation in campus activities are prerequisites for election to Alpha Kappa Psi, national professional commerce fraternity. Only upperclassmen in the College of Business Administration are eligible for election. Professional meetings are held semi-monthly, at which time outstanding men in their professional fields are speakers of the evening. This year an all-campus dance was given with Delta Phi Delta and A.S.M.E. "Queen of the May" was Bud Bannan, who was chosen "Ugliest Man on Campus" and presented a ceramic model with monster-like features.

ENGINEERING

DEAN C. ALBERT JOERGER whose entire home is testimony to his interior decorating hobby, a diversion from his usual routine of advising future engineers.

The Engine school, with its excellent contact in the engineering world, provides practical experience while attending school. Armed with slide rules and graph paper, the students of this quadrangle college face the cruel business world every seven weeks, only eventually to return to Baldwin, Chemistry, and Swift.

The Tribunal's main function is the allocation of funds to the varied activities of the college. A large percentage of the money collected from the activity fees goes to the Co-op Engineer, the students' engineering publication. The annual Engineers' Ball also comes under the Tribunal's jurisdiction.

ENGINEERING TRIBUNAL

ROW 2—Schubert, R.; Weisshaar, C.; Fullard, B.; Butler, R.; Graham B.

Tau Beta Pi annually elects undergraduates in Engineering who have brought honor to their Alma Mater by their fine character and distinguished scholarship. Outstanding among the events of the year was an address by Roscoe Duncan, Director of Crosley Television at the mid-year election. At this time twelve new members were initiated.

Established at the University of Cincinnati in 1915, Tau Beta Pi has grown to become an outstanding factor in encouraging spirit of liberal culture in the engineering colleges.

Under the domain of the department of Aeronautical Engineering are included the subjects most vitally important to the future of air power in this country. Keeping abreast of modern developments in the field of aviation, the embryo designer of air craft and engines may take courses in jet propulsion and the like, completing his course with a thesis and plane design.

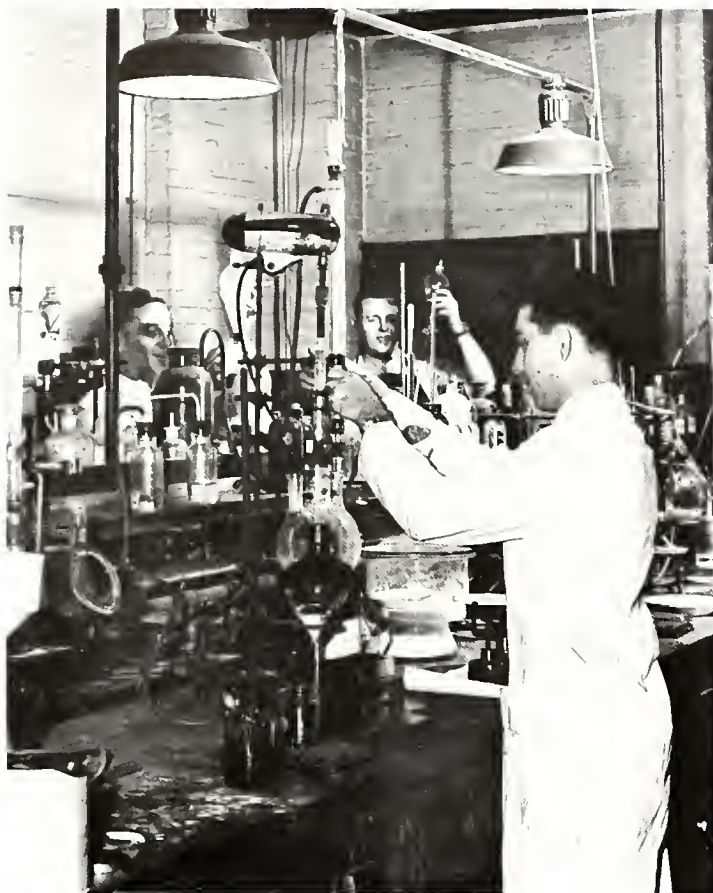

Membership in the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences is open to upper-classmen in the College of Engineering who are majoring in this field. At their weekly luncheon meetings the members discuss theories on aviation and review student papers.

For the first two years' work, the future Chemical Engineer's course differs from the other departments of the College of Engineering only in the Chemistry classes. However, much of his remaining time on campus is spent in one of the many labs applying the theories learned in the basic courses.

Outstanding students who intend to follow a career in chemistry are annually elected to Alpha Chi Sigma. A joint meeting is held each year with the professional chapter in the city to which these men automatically become members upon graduation. This season Ray Nolting filled the speaker's role as he addressed the group on some interesting facts on the Miami, Florida football game.

A. I. Ch. E. Established at the University of Cincinnati in 1926, the student chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers was founded to promote good fellowship and interest among students in the Chemical and Metallurgical Engineering Department. A. I. Ch. E. works also to draw the faculty into closer contact with these students. The presentation of fifty-dollar scholarships to worthy undergraduates indicates the interest of the fraternity in the promotion of scholarship in the field of chemical engineering.

A. S. C. E. The American Society of Civil Engineers, a national organization, is composed of students in Civil Engineering who have completed their freshman year.

One of its major activities was an all-day trip sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of Cincinnati. This excursion took the junior and senior civils on a tour around the city to view the proposed sites of the new expressways that are one day to lead into the Queen City. Also, a joint meeting of the student chapter with the Cincinnati chapter of A.S.C.E. was held on March 3. Its social activities were highlighted by a stag party at Sharon Woods.

Roaming the campus in all kinds of weather are the civil engineers, who find their only protection in the knowledge that they are learning their life's work. Truly sons of the transit and the rod, these men are those who will in the future plan and build the airports, bridges, dams, buildings, and the highways upon which the cars of tomorrow will travel.

Analytical geometry, mechanisms, and calculus problems chain the Engine student to his desk and always insure a well-ordered class room session. Page-long problems don't offer much chance for "disgression."

Behind the Vector slide rules are the student Electrical Engineers. Working for five years for a B.S. in E.E., they alternate such subjects as calculus, electrical systems, and other technical preparatory courses with co-op jobs. When their courses are over and their work is through, the Electrical Engineers are the men who plan the lighting of the plants for the Mechanical Engineers and the illumination of bridges and dams for the Civil Engineers.

Scholastically outstanding upperclassmen in the College of Electrical Engineering are eligible for election to Eta Kappa Nu. This fraternity has revived the custom of awarding an "Engineering Handbook" to the outstanding pre-junior.

At the meetings, either students, faculty, or graduate engineers lecture on subjects pertaining to electrical engineering. Inspection trips acquaint students with engineering projects and accomplishments. These various activities supplement electrical engineering courses with practical application.

Now combined with the former department of General Engineering, the department of Mechanical Engineering is the largest of the College's subdivisions. Struggling under such formidable-sounding subjects as Thermodynamics or Technical Mechanisms, the Mechanical Engineer is distinguished by the heavy mental load he carries. Upon graduation, the student is fitted to go into the fields of general engineering and machine design. Many of the co-ops associate themselves with the Cincinnati Milling Machine Co.

Pi Tau Sigma, national honorary fraternity for mechanical engineers, stresses the ideals of the engineering profession and strives in every way to bring about the coordination of all the activities of the department. Members are selected from the outstanding pre-juniors, juniors, and seniors. It takes an active part in A.S.M.E. affairs, and presents a handbook to the Mechanical Engineering sophomore with the best scholastic record.

Home Ec is not all kitchens, day nurseries, and floral Decorations from "House and Garden." The Tribunal carried on its own "Home Beautiful" program by initiating a project for further redecoration of the Women's Building Lounge. Assisting in the Orientation Program for new students, the Fall Pep Rally, the annual President's Tea, and the Faculty-Student Christmas Party kept this governing body on its toes. But don't let the exclusive name of the building fool you! Men often enter these sacred portals: the single ones to pick out a competent wife, and the married ones to investigate the day nursery.

The activities for this year were many; among them were suppers given by each class, a variety show sponsored by the sophomores and seniors in Home Economics, and a spring dance in March. Philanthropic work included the collecting of gifts for poor children.

Composed of outstanding women in the field of child care and training, membership in Tau Pi Epsilon is an honor for those meeting its qualifications. Activities for this year included a Christmas party and gifts for the children at St. Joseph's Infant Home and an initiation banquet at the Cincinnati Club. A scholarship was presented to the junior woman who showed the most merit in scholarship and interest.

Election of seniors and second term juniors in the College of Home Economics to Omicron Nu is based on high scholarship, leadership, and promise of achievement. Scholarship is recognized by congratulatory letters and by a tea given with Tau Pi Epsilon for the upper fifteen per cent of the underclassmen. On Honor Day, Omicron Nu announces the name of the senior who has contributed most to the field of Home Economics, and inscribes her name on a permanent plaque.

LIBERAL ARTS

DEAN GEORGE B. BARBOUR, our traveling explorer, whose own etched Christmas cards picture the many places he has been.

With another year gone by, the orphans of Liberal Arts as yet have no place to hang their hats, despite the rumors of their new home. However, the feeble structure of old McMicken is still intact, undoubtedly standing from force of habit. The "No Smoking" signs constantly remind us that a fire may easily be started if given a shove in the right direction! Nevertheless, with the Tribunal at the helm, there is little dissension among the ranks of the bewildered Liberal Arts children. The Tribunal plans the convocations that excuse us from our 11:30 classes and the Vocational Interest Program held every spring.

Stressing the ideals of friendship, morality, and intellectual attainment as the goals of all educated men and women, Phi Beta Kappa represents high scholastic achievement in the College of Liberal Arts. Candidates for either the Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science degrees are selected from the highest fifteen per cent of the class. Initiation into the honorary is held each spring.

Far from being a full time diet of classes and labs, Liberal Arts college often finds its students putting into practice their liberalization. Always to be found lounging and smoking under the "No Lounging or Smoking on Library Steps" sign, these students vary their leisure moments by reading the exam schedules. L. A. orphans swarm over the campus going from class to class, still hoping for the day when a new McMicken will open its doors.

Planning all the social functions and clubs for the Florence Nightingales is the inclusive job of this Tribunal. A Bridge Club, Glee Club, and other varied organizations help the future nurses pass their time between classes and floor-walking.

TEACHERS COLLEGE

DEAN CARTER V. GOOD becoming Dean of Teachers College and a grandfather the same day has made this year very eventful for Carter V. Good.

Are teachers human? A struggling third grade male might give a jolting answer, but since there are no obvious characteristics to distinguish the students of the school next to the library, we are forced to admit that, at least while they are in college, T.C. students are normal. Education classes and student teaching keep them busy, while the Tribunal takes care of their lighter moments. In the fall, an orientation program and picnic introduce everyone to everyone else. A Thanksgiving and Easter convocation, Christmas open house, and the final picnic fill out the year. On December 7 a plaque was dedicated to perpetuate the names of the Teachers College students in the service. And now who says the teachers aren't human?

The Kindergarten Club, made up of girls interested in kindergarten-primory teaching, has programs pertinent to the lower grades. Music, art, and games are topics discussed. Any girl in kindergarten-primory training realizes the importance of knowing how to quiet a noisy group. Social functions and student teaching experience enliven the rest of the bi-weekly meetings. A faculty tea and mother-daughter banquet in the spring ended a successful year.

GRADUATE SCHOOL

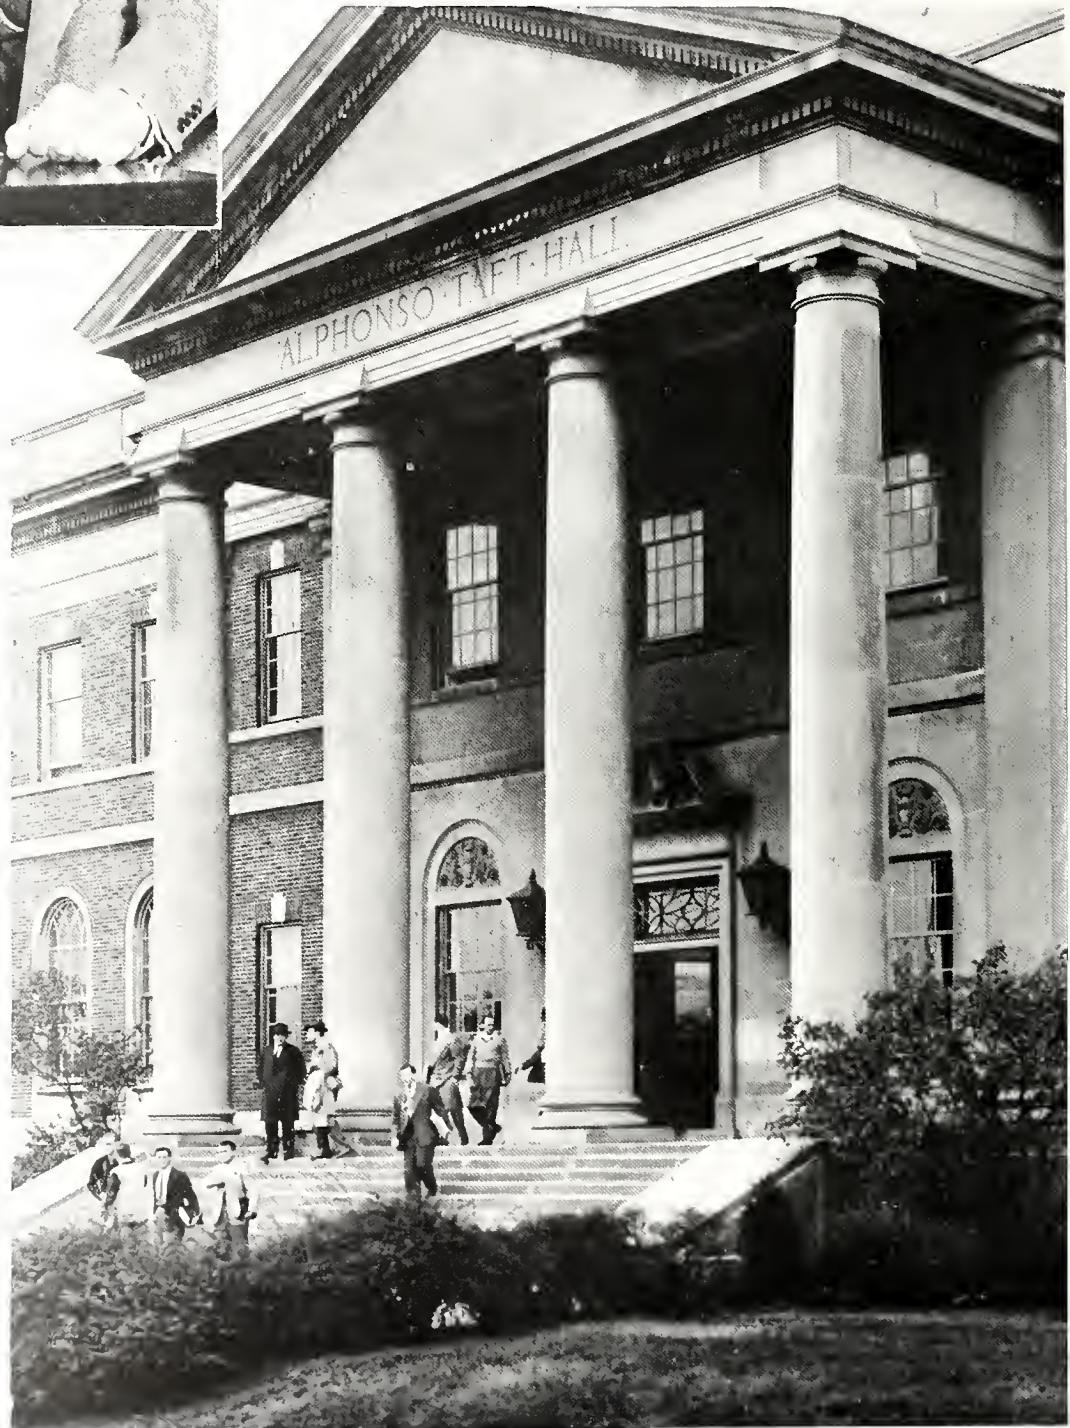

The Graduate School, enlarged by the influx of veterans and frustrated pre-meds, has made forward strides under the leadership of Dean Hoke S. Green, Godfather of the Graduates. Students from all twenty-six departments meet often as the Graduate Club for discussion and to swap "blues" stories concerning their up-and-coming theses.

HOKE S. GREEN—Dean of the Graduate School

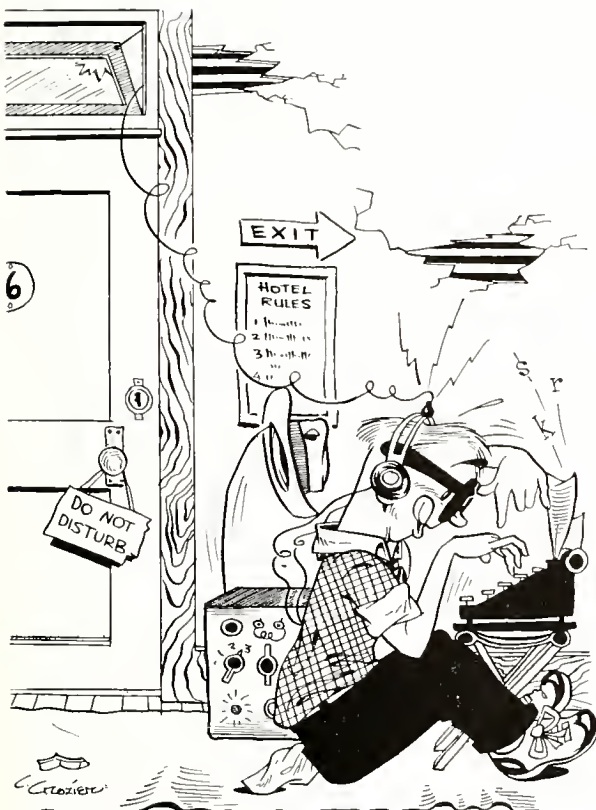

DEAN FRANK S. ROWLEY is "The Memory" man behind our future barristers.

LAW

The honor system at the College of Law, including unproctored exams, is enviously admired by the students in the rest of U.C. However, an Honor Committee does review the cases of a few offenders. The Case Club, where mock appellate procedure is practiced, offers a useful extra-curricular activity. The top students are permitted to serve at the Legal Aid Clinic, giving help to those who otherwise would not have the benefit of legal counsel.

MEDICINE

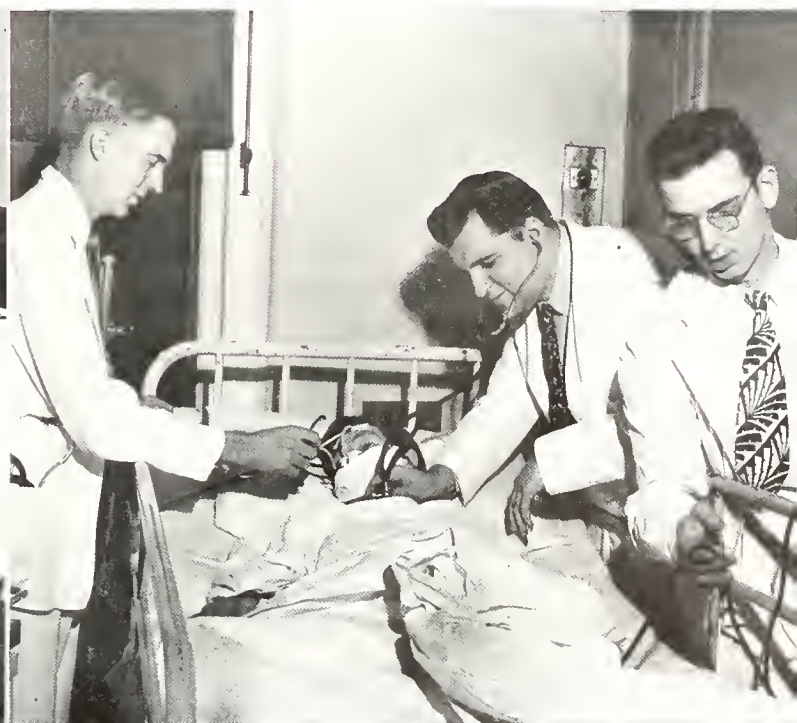

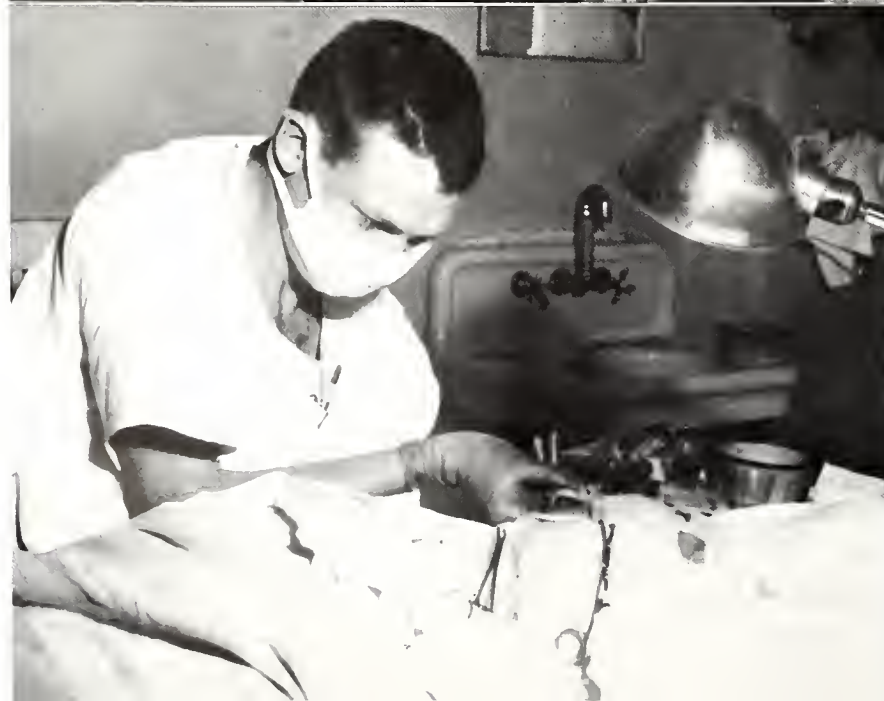

DR. STANLEY P. DORST—Voted by pre-meds as the name they would like to see most on a registered letter.

After months of not-too-patient waiting, The letter comes. With it, another letter—friendly advice as to where to buy a microscope. Registration, the first encounter with the cadaver, sweating out hours of study and exams . . . aside from these memories etched clearly in the mind, the med student remembers Longview, Cincinnati General, Holmes, and Children's Hospital, affiliations of which the College of Medicine may justly be proud.

All Med school operations aren't awe-inspiring, as even a dog falls victim to the medic's scalpel. "Every dog has his day" the saying goes, and a human being finds he isn't the only one with an operation to talk about.

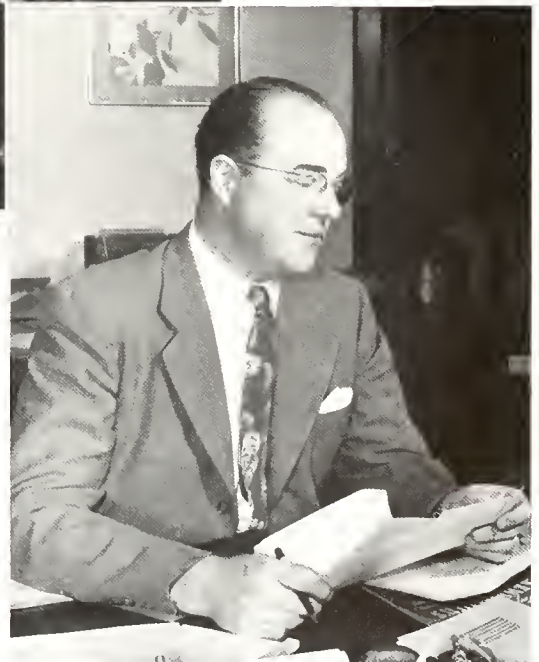

Medical School has been especially busy this year. The familiar cadavers are still present, with the personal touch of a name such as Buttercup to distinguish one corpse from another. Starting with a cadaver and degenerating up to a dog, the med students are kept on the go, as usual. Somewhere between humans and dogs, "Susie" fits in. Each student is equipped with his own prize piece of this erstwhile gorilla. If anyone happens to be passing a med lab late at night, strains of "If you knew Susie like we know Susie" may be heard. Senior students perform autopsies and master such terms as leucocytosis, apyretic, hematose, and taeniicide to frighten the freshmen. Although studying occupies most of the time of these future M.D.'s, they always find time for a few hands of bridge between classes. Even when they go to bed, med students are still under the influence of their school, for each medic prays for grades, and the grads offer prayers of thanksgiving.

EVENING COLLEGE

Some ninety-one hundred people cannot be wrong concerning the advantages of Evening College for development of their cultural and professional intrests. Sparsely lighted walks and steps lead the way to brightly lighted buildings that are a haven indeed to weary workers. Through the various facilities and organizations of the Evening College, the University meets the demands of Cincinnati's people who work to keep pace by night with the world they are helping by day.

FRANK R. NEUFFER—Deon of Evening College.

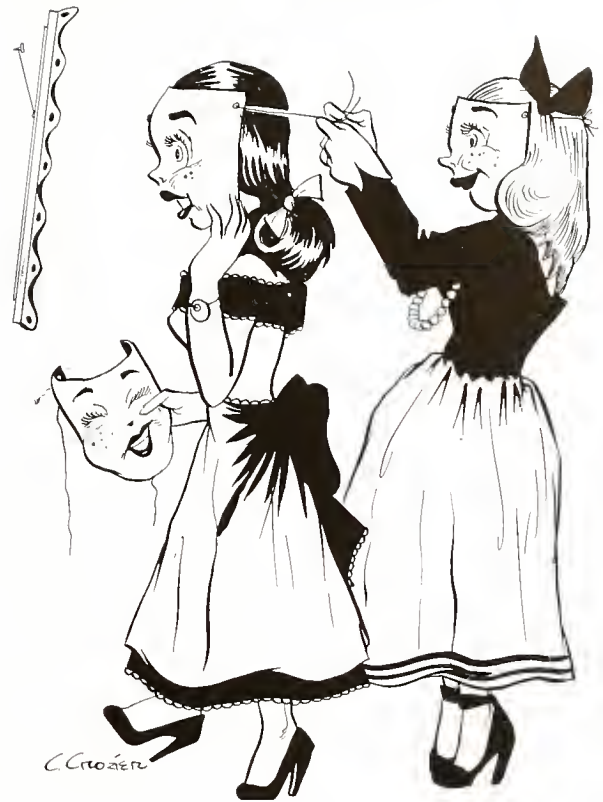

Something new has been added to the list of rush parties as excursion buses open their doors to fraternities. The purpose was originally a sneak preview of the Queen City, but the outstanding spot "on our left" is forgotten as an active holds everyone's interest with "the traveling salesman who . . ."

Introduction to the Greeks—and any Freshman will say that it's more than a handshake. The standard requirement is a smile that will hold up for two weeks and an Emily Post book on etiquette. Rushmen and women have spent a clothes-conscious summer getting ready for the maze of September parties. Actives have gone over their stock conversations and the first party finds everyone responding to the question, 'And what college are you in?' Houses are crowded and eyes are strained as name tags become smaller and smaller. It's a confused few weeks of parties and worn-out grins, but it's rushing that paves the way for college fun "in the bonds."

Buffet suppers and swimming parties stand as a big part of fraternity rushing. The rushmen are served first as actives try to take a polite back seat. It's short-lived paradise though, as two weeks later the wine and dined rushman becomes the hurried and worried pledge.

Beginning with a tea for all new girls interested in becoming Greeks, rushing is a constant whirl of parties. The climax comes when, on a memorable Sunday afternoon, each sorority conducts the "lucky" ones to a window in the Union, where screaming girls let the new pledges know that they are welcome. Fraternity rushing is more informal, but beer parties, dances, and stags add to the glamour of this period. An air of interested aloofness is the best way to make pledging a reality. Pledging is nothing but a dream with a few light duties added, such as cleaning the house, taking the dog for a walk, making beds, and one especially easy factor—making grades. The pledges' plight may seem unbearable, but with a clear head and a strong constitution, they become actives!

Screams echo against the Student Union building as the appearance of each new pledge causes a frenzy of excitement in the crowd of actives below.

Organized to keep an ever-watchful eye on sorority activities, we are the organization known around campus as Pan-Hell. You'd be surprised at the duties we are called upon to perform— all the way from clothing a needy family to seeing that rushing remains above the rat-race level. Mrs. Rose M. Rupp, busy as she looks, is always ready to advise her "adopted children." This seems to be a good place to introduce you to them individually, first on the list being Alpha Chi Omega.

Of course, we think that the whole Alpha Chi chapter is pretty outstanding, but Ulex only seemed to be able to honor the senior class. Deciding that a class of girls would be better than one queen, they arranged the boat ride a little differently last spring. Not condemning any innovations though, we emerged with the distinction, and as representative of the class, "Phil" Hock carried off a trophy practically as big as she. They set quite an example for following classes, and it looks like a good honor to hang on to!

Even if we can't match the Alpha Chi's Ulex award, we did have a Founder's Day celebration to end all Founder's Day celebrations. In case you don't know it already, A D Pi was founded in the "deep South." So southern atmosphere hung from the candelabras and "you all's" monopolized the dialogue of a skit depicting the lives and doings of our famous founders. It was fun being Southern Belles for one night, but the next morning shoved us all back in the Grill-Goon swing of things again.

Valentine's Day gave us another good excuse for a party at the house. Decorations were first on the list of things to do, and all our dates found themselves stepping through a big gold-frame doorway, complete with red hearts and cupids. Our-pride-of-the-year stands in the form of a new house on Swiaa Chalet Court. We did a lot of the renovating work ourselves and you can't imagine how much fun we had, in spite of banged-up knees and bruises. Convenience seems to be the biggest selling point though, as we're now within throwing (rocks) distance of the campus. Everyone seems to be unanimous in her approval, so we've decided to settle down for a long stay.

Welcoming friends, alums, actives, and pledges, we set up shop in the Pavilion Caprice on December 14 for the annual 'Mus-icale.' The alums really went all-out to provide an entertaining program. With a background of Chi O songs, an alumna read the Chi Omega 'Symphony.' Even the pledges came up with entertainment and introduced a new song, 'We're Southern Born.' The Mus-icale came to its usual appealing close when we all joined in with old favorite songs.

'For impressiveness due the occasion, mix a guest speaker and an active's talk on the services of the sorority. For humor, add a dash of satire on the services of pledges to actives. For conclusion, stir in a pledge skit based on the original founding. And when well done, serve as a successful function.

No one can say that D Phi E's didn't have the spirit. We've got the trophy to prove it. Selling the most forget-me-nots for the Disabled American Veteran fund, we were awarded a cup of recognition. It wasn't all easy going either. If you've ever stood on a street corner in one of Cincinnati's spells of nasty weather and tried to interest hurrying crowds in posies, you know what we mean! But don't misunderstand — we're not complaining. The cause was worthy and we are proud of the part we played.

'Deck the halls with boughs of holly' would have been a good theme song for the activity that went on before our Christmas formal. We decided to have the dance in the house this year and after a four-piece orchestra had been hired, everyone lent a helping hand on the decorations. Holly was seen everywhere, and anyone would have to have been blind to miss all the mistletoe that was hung at strategic points. All in all, the dance was the perfect opener to an extra special Christmas season.

We can't claim the D Phi E's recognition cup, but we do have a cup to shaw off too. We won the trophy for having the most popular booth at the Sigma Sigma carnival, that popularity being determined by the amount of money we collected. The minute a 'customer' stepped inside the enclosure, he knew why he had paid to enter. Thick with night-club atmosphere, the show was cheap at half the price!

Kappa Delta was fifty years old this year and as a consequence, we were in for a lot of clever quips to the effect that we didn't look a day over forty-nine. Of course, the gold ribbons that we wore under our pins didn't hush the matter either. Proud of our aging years though, we gathered at the Hotel Gibson for a banquet and message from our National President. After concluding the program with songs, we decided that every Kappa Delta had enjoyed a truly Happy Birthday."

There wasn't a single quiet Kappa in the Greek amphitheater after the judges announced that we had won the interfraternity sing. Months of song practice had gone into the program that everyone heard that night. Stores had been scoured for the navy blue blazers with the embroidered crests that we wore. And no one could forget her efforts over a sewing machine, for all the white skirts had to be exactly alike—a lot of work, but a satisfying reward.

All we needed was the invitation—and we went! The Ohio State chapter had been given a new house by National and they invited us up for a big weekend house warming. A Christmas formal held the place of honor, though we did get to hear the Christmas Festival, in which two of our Phi Mu sisters sang the leads. Then, to show them what a wonderful time we had, we sent a product of our own city, a Rookwood vase, as a house-warming present.

The Metropole Hotel was the scene of the biggest dance of our school year. Given in November, this formal was called 'The Snow-ball.' We thought it would be a welcome relief from all the warm weather that Cincinnati had been seeing, and so, we made our own winter in the form of white cotton flecks of snow. Snow men decorated all the tables. At midnight we introduced our pledges to the tune of a song that fitted their personalities. It was a wonderful sample to them of the kind of dances Pi Lambda Sigma would be giving for them.

Our big day came this year when we celebrated S D T's twenty-fifth birthday. Knowing that twenty-fifth anniversaries come only once a lifetime, we decided that a big celebration was in order. So we invited our national president and took over the Hotel Gibson for a dinner dance. The active chapter furnished the entertainment in the form of a skit which compared sorority life of twenty-five years ago with the way we see it now. Not wanting our guests to forget this "momentous occasion," we gave them silver cigarette lighters. The night was perfect from the first sight of the fresh table flowers to the last glance at our withered corsages.

Stags—Stags—Stags. Maketewah Country Club was lousy with them and were we thankful! We wanted to show the pledges what kind of a pledge formal we thought they deserved, and this year's dance turned out to be a pacemaker! We had lots of laughs over their nervous excitement while waiting to be formally introduced—even though the time wasn't too far distant when we also had faced that sea of faces and tried nonchalantly to stroll the length of the ballroom floor alone, and just to show everyone that we weren't "one-way" — each pledge was given a silver identification bracelet. As a gratifying reward for all our labor, we still hear the pledges talk about the dance.

This year we joined the ranks of the other sororities on the campus who had bought new houses. We planned all the remodeling and redecorating ourselves and spent the summer doing odd jobs while trying to stay out of the way of carpenters, plumbers, and painters. The second floor was converted into a dormitory, and the basement found itself housing a large dining room. Burgandy and light green were chosen as the color scheme for the spacious light living room. As a finishing touch, we introduced our house at a reception for the alumni and sorority presidents.

After winning the Women's Group Scholarship Cup, A. I. W. established more firmly their importance on campus. The cook sales being held in T. C. are moving with great success, and plan to continue. A slumber party has rounded out a full campus schedule.

And the members are justifiably proud of such a campus schedule which A. I. W. works to carry out each year.

Much was to be gained by way of chapter organization at the recent convention held with the Butler University chapter at the Gibson. Future events were planned at the business meetings, and the U. C. Trianon took the visitors on a tour of the Queen City. National officers were installed at the banquet held in the evening, making the day one to be remembered.

Making the rounds of member's homes for the evening is a favorite pastime. There is nothing like a relaxed group at home with games near an open fire, song sessions at the keyboard, cake, and ice cream, for cementing those friendships.

And every member will testify to the life-long friends that grow from Links.

Of the several dances held after the meetings, Quadres' Hallowe'en dance was an outstanding success. Cider and donuts were served in true Hallowe'en spirit. Thus, with a reputation established, the Betty Hull Scholarship Dance had to live up to its predecessors. Plans were complete, much work was done, and the dance was as successful as past events.

QUADRES

This year's Independent Formal was held at Mariemont Recreation Hall and considered a success by all who attended. Complete with a Christmas tree, the decorations were as gay as the season itself. Midnight brought a floor show when the talent of the chapter did a take off on "The Night Before Christmas." Party spirit was much in evidence and it was only the rigidness of campus rules that finally brought a close to the celebration but A.I.S. had added another successful dance to its list of activities.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

President—Marion Fleming

Vice-President—Al Ahrens

As the gavel pounds madly down on the table, "Jug" Fleming starts the ball rolling at another session of the Interfraternity Council. This year, as every other year, has seen the Council, with their sleeves rolled up, wading into several big undertakings. Remember the passing of the school tax levy last Fall that put U.C. back on the "Gold Standard?" Hand in hand with University officials the fraternities on campus were one of the swaying elements in the passing of the bill. The survey of extra curricular organizations on campus was indeed one of the drives that add up to a better campus and fresh university spirit. The Interfraternity-Pan-hellenic Publicity Committee, which functioned as a organization to further constructive publicity for fraternity and sorority projects, brought to the public's eye the truth about outstanding Greek events. Nothing need be said here about the Interfraternity dance, for we're sure you were there and joined in the merry making.

We can't just paint a picture of work, work, work for the Council, for many an "after meeting" bull session at the "C. B." or "Ships" kept spirit high and good fellowship strong.

"It's round, it's white, it's a wonderful night!!" and what is it? The annual A.E.P. Snowball dance of course. When we talk about that over-grown snow-man in the lounge of the Union or those king-sized snowballs on the ceiling that exploded and showered the dancers with little miniature balls, then we're really just talking over old times that we all remember. Mistletoe, holly, greens, and what have you, transformed the Union lounge into a Christmas wonderland. Looking forward to next year, we want to set off another Merry Christmas in a similar way.

Cold winter winds and whirling snow usually add touches of bitter cold to a bright Christmas. This year the warm winds of merry Mexico blew into 266 Senator Place, where all the incidentals of a Mexican Christmas supplied the atmosphere for the annual Christmas formal. The spirit of Christmas reigned supreme when our dates opened the packages under the tree and found more reminders of Mexican custom—jewelry. But the biggest surprise of the evening came when we opened the front door to go home and found ourselves back in the reality of another cold Cincinnati night.

They say an apple for the teacher always brings results, and what results it brought to the 'First Grade' party at the Beta house one fall night! Lollypops, skipping ropes, balloons, and stuffed animals reigned supreme. Each couple that walked in the door seemed to outdo the others in bloomers, knickers, and pigtails. Toyland had seen its day and the party was over. Us first graders had been up way past our bedtime!

The saying goes that the Delt house on Jefferson Ave. is about to give birth to a little new addition. Soon to spring up on the back lawn is a C Pumphrey Founder Memorial building to house a Chapter Room and Alum hall. The buffet supper just before Christmas saw our Moms and us busy carolling around the fireplace and enjoying the spread that they had prepared. Bright new drapes now decorate the panelled walls and the floors are refinished—another result of the evening.

. . . And the end of the week has rolled around again. There always seems to be a question as to where to go and what to do, but here's one problem we've settled to the advantage of everyone in question. Drop down to the house this next Saturday, and you can see what I mean. There's always a floor show with no cover charge, and decorations change every week. Grilled steaks and hamburgers top the menu for good things to eat, so you can easily see why such a big college crowd jams every nook and corner every Saturday.

The dance of the year for Lambda Chi is our Christmas formal. Peggy Kelly, Chi Omega, walked away with the honors of the evening when we placed the coronet of white roses on her lovely head. Peg stepped out of a large Christmas package to greet a tense, anxious crowd at Summit Hills and at that moment received the title of 'Rose of Lambda Chi' for the year 47-48. Our dates weren't forgotten though, for each was presented with a white wool dog to help remember the evening as one never-to-be-forgotten.

"Celebration" has always been associated with our name, but this has definitely been a key-year. A century ago the Phi Delts became a national fraternity; fifty years ago, we invaded the U.C. campus. Later this year, we will move our part of the noise from the busy corner, to a secluded location on Digby Avenue. "The door is always open," so drop around for a taste of real Phi Delt tradition.

A stein in the hand of every pledge would well be the word for future generations. The custom was born at our formal out at Marie-mont Inn. The active chapter, between blasts from Johnny Clark's orchestra and Barber Shop Quartets, presented each pledge with a fraternity mug and thereby began the tradition. Between the party at the Alms and the shower of balloons from the ceiling at midnight were crowded many laughs and surprises. The slippery floor made the scramble for the balloons just a little more interesting than expected.

Each year seems to bring us a fairer, lovelier, 'Dream Girl.' We're proud of our song and even more so of the girl who steps into the title spot on the night of our Spring Formal. Last year Miss Pam Barry, Alpha Chi Omega, was chosen our queen. Flowers, candy, cosmetics, a dress, and a radio broadcast topped the bouquets that came her way. 'The Dream Girl of Pi K A' is an honor that no queen will ever forget.

It was late in the summer of '47 when we moved all our valuables into the big empty house on Hosea Avenue. The next weeks saw us roll up our sleeves and pitch in to the big job of face-lifting the walls, floors, and ceilings. All the preparations came to a dramatic climax one Sunday in October, when alums and parents crowded the rafters for the open-house services. Distinguished speakers presented a program dedicating parts of the house to gold-star servicemen. It was a serious program that will be well remembered as our fresh start at U. C.

A petticoat in every room is the password for the house at the annual week-end party. Friday rolls around, our dates move in, and we move out. For three days and two nights those tie racks are transformed with silk stockings closets are hung with feminine frills. The chapter house got a general face-lifting for the fairer sex. Old clothes parties, swimming, dinners, dancing are all brought to a glorious close with a final party on Sunday afternoon—thus marking the end of another perfect week-end.

Half way down the hill from Hughes and across from T.C. stands a red brick house now adorned by a golden plaque that hangs on the door—Sigma Alpha Mu. We're not a new name on campus, but we are off to a fresh start with a well-situated house, near sorority row and the rolling lawns of U.C. The latest saying that repeats itself at every turn is "Keep your hands off the wallpaper!" We've finally attained our main ambition of getting a house nearer the campus and with new furniture on its way, we're ready to settle down for a long stay.

"Don't spare the reindeer" could be heard ringing from every house top one night just before Christmas. Mr. Claus, along with us 'Sigs,' decided to make an early visit to all the sorority houses with a few songs tossed in for good measure. Modern improvements saw a super-charged motor scooter carry Santa into the open arms of awaiting sorority girls. Chimes, carols, quartets, and original songs paved the way to a successful serenade that brought Christmas in with plenty of spirit.

It rained all that day—turning the field into a pig pen of mud and slush. With undaunted spirits both the actives and pledges trudged onto the field with determination in their eyes. It was the annual pledge-active football game with both pride and a costly beer party at stake. The outcome saw our active chapter entertaining the pledge class at Finney Town Inn with enough old clothes, singing and beverages for all.

April showers saw a little more than May showers this spring. A Founder's Day weekend brightened fraternity life to the maximum. It all began that Saturday night at Summit Hills Country Club with the annual spring formal, and progressed into Sunday with a Founder's Day banquet at the house. Alums crowded every nook and corner of the house and seemed all but to take over the dorm. Sunday eve after the instollation of the new officers, the pledges once again moved back into their beds and everything drifted back to normal.

"Hip, one, two, three—" is not confined to Coach Nolting's gridgers alone. The pigskin rivalry that has grown up in the intra-mural league is second only to that which is displayed between the Mid-American Conference schools. Coached by actual gridiron greats and not-so-greats, the fraternity and independent huskies devote a great deal of time to perfecting their "T" and single wing formations. The day of the big game always finds a large throng assembled to cheer their "brothers" on to victory.

Even before the students had a chance to settle back into the old routine, football fever had set in. Hopes hit a low with the opening loss to Kentucky, then rose to great heights as the Bearcats toppled Miami, Florida, only to hit bottom again on Thanksgiving Day. It was another successful season for the charges of Coach Ray Nolting however, with the first Mid-American Football Championship belonging to the men of the Red and Black.

Seven wins with only three losses marked a schedule including an upset loss to Dayton, a thrilling 27-25 win over Xavier, and Cincy's first victory over an Ohio U. eleven on the latter's field at Athens.

FOOTBALL

Co-captain with Dick Langenbeck in 1947, Al Sabato graduated from Woodward High School in 1941 after winning four football monograms. The first-string frosh grid crew at the University of Tennessee in '42 was the next stop on Al's climb up the pigskin ladder.

The next two years found Al in service, during which he spent most of his time running from the full-back position. For several seasons he teamed up with such nationally known stars as Frank Sinkwich and Bulldog Turner to form part of the highly vaunted Second Air Force Squad.

Sabato returned to the McMicken campus in 1946 and has played two years on the Red and Black aggregation. Majoring in physical education, he will graduate in June.

Western Reserve was again on the march, with UC leading 7-6 and the ball on the Cincy 8. "Captain Longenbeck in at tackle for UC," the loudspeaker blared. The Bearcats, cheered by the first appearance of their co-captain since he was injured against Dayton, held the Redcats to win the ball game and go on to the Mid-American Championship.

In such a manner Dick Langenbeck proved his true worth as a leader of the Red and Black. Having graduated from Western Hills in 1941, Dick already had two banner years for UC, 1942 and last year after being in the service. Although forced to the sidelines with injuries this season, he instilled in his teammates the will to win on or off the field.

"The greatest halfback ever to play at UC"—"The greatest back since Nolting"—These and many more plaudits have been spoken and written about Roger Stephens, one of the finest men ever to wear a Bearcat uniform.

Rog, in his first gridiron season at Old McMicken, climaxed a sparkling year by making the First All Mid-West squad and becoming an All-Ohio choice. In 1947 Stephens was second in the major football league in total yards rushing and was sixth in the nation in the average yards column with 7.14 yards per try.

Born in Westgate, Iowa, twenty-three years ago, Rog attended high school in Waterloo after his parents had changed residences. Stephens pulled down three letters in football, three in basketball, and three in track, where he specialized in the discus and javelin.

After graduation, he worked for a year and then entered the University of Iowa, where he stayed for a semester and earned his football letter at the halfback slot.

Following basic training in Louisiana, the "Monk" was transferred to Ft. Warren, where he played nearly two years of Army football. A Cincinnati friend of Stephens induced him to write to Coach John Wiethe, and this eventually led to his enrollment at UC.

A junior in Teachers College, the Iowa flash has another year to star for the Bearcats, and as far as the future is concerned—well, a coaching job in the Queen City would be nice.

Football season, and the picture of the crowded stadium becomes a study in black and white. However, any true football fan remembers the scene as a chaos of color—the blending of bright coats, bandannas, and streamers. Although faces are not recognizable from the tower window of the Student Union, the cries of the excited crowd can easily be heard.

CINCINNATI 0—KENTUCKY 20

The Bearcats were thinking of their 1946 opener, the upset over Indiana, as they took the field to initiate the 1947 season against Kentucky at Lexington. When the final gun had sounded however, it was UC on the short end of a 20-0 count. UC drove to the UK five at the start only to stall. The Wildcats then took over, scoring on lightning thrusts by Don Phelps and a plunge by Bill Mosely to win, even though Roger Stephens and company were outgaining them 13 to 5 first downs and 225 to 115 yards on the ground.

CINCINNATI 20—ST. BONAVENTURE 14

The first home game ended in one of the most thrilling finishes witnessed by Cincy fans. The gun sounded with St. Bonaventure lining up for a final play on the UC 10 with the score 20-14 in the Bearcat favor. Red-and-Black scores came on plunges by Fullback Mike Graham and Halfback Roger Stephens, and a long pass from Quarterback Tom O'Malley to End Bill Anderson. Tom Jessen began his amazing conversion record by kicking two extra points.

CINCINNATI 21—DAYTON 26

An upset-inspired Dayton eleven pulled the surprise of the Bearcat season by coming from behind to a 26-21 win. Things looked easy when Roger Stephens sprinted 90 yards for a touchdown with the opening kickoff, but the undaunted Flyers, led by Quarterback Ed Toscani, were not to be stopped. Passes from him to Bok and Babione spelled defeat for the Red and Black. Outstanding on the Bearcat line was guard Les Heizman, who continually broke through and set up a UC score with a fumble recovery.

CINCINNATI 20—OKLAHOMA CITY 13

The Bearcats regained the victory road and began their longest streak when Roger Stephens went over late in the second half to give UC a 20-13 decision over Oklahoma City. Tom O'Malley played one of his best games as he passed to Stan Klimczak for the first score and later set up the decisive marker with another heave. Stephens scored twice, one jaunt going for 72 yards.

CINCINNATI 27—XAVIER 25

A capacity throng of 31,000 fans watched UC edge its intra-city rival, Xavier, 27-25. Roger Stephens and Guard John Vilkoski played terrific ball for the Bearcats. After the Musketeers had broken the ice, Don McMillan passed to Alkie Richards for a TD. Bill Anderson blocked a kick to set up the second marker only to see the same thing done to a McMillan boot. Passes from Tom O'Malley to Richards and Stephens spelt victory, however, with Tom Jessen's toe bringing the winning margin.

CINCINNATI 34—OHIO UNIVERSITY 0

A 51-year-old jinx fell by the wayside as the Bearcats beat the Bobcats of Ohio U. for the first time in that period at Athens. Jim Dougherty starred, running back the opening kickoff 90 yards. Not to be outshown, however, was Alkie Richards, who aided in the 34-0 rout by catching four passes for 153 yards, setting up one score, and scampering 45 yards with an intercepted pigskin for another. Mike Graham tallied twice with Ken Amlin plunging for the final marker.

CINCINNATI 20—UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI, FLA. 7

It was another field day for Richards as the Bearcats played their best ball of the season in walloping the Hurricanes of Miami, Florida, 20-7. Alkie, ably assisted by Roger Stephens and Guard Bob Fenlon, scored all three touchdowns. UC outgained Miami 342 to 176 yards in total offense as it thrust to a 20-0 halftime advantage, then played it safe, holding the losers to a single second half score.

CINCINNATI 7—WESTERN RESERVE 6

Traveling to Cleveland, the Nolting men encountered mud, rain, and a stubborn Western Reserve eleven. However, the Bearcats emerged with a 7-6 verdict and their second conference success. After Warren Lahr had passed to Dick Rudde to send the Redcats in to a 6-0 lead, Alkie Richards took the ensuing kickoff, faked to Roger Stephens, then plodded unmolested 89 yards to tie the count. Tom Jessen's conversion again was the margin of difference between a win or a loss.

CINCINNATI 26—BUTLER 19

With the Mid-American Conference Championship depending on the outcome, the Bearcats trounced Butler, 26-19, on a muddy gridiron, to gain an undisputed crown. A loss would have meant a tie with Western Reserve for the diadem. Roger Stephens and Mike Graham each ran up his highest rushing total of the year, as the UC ground attack gained a new peak in effectiveness. It was this contest that aided Stephens immeasurably in finishing second in rushing among the major college leaders.

CINCINNATI 7—MIAMI UNIVERSITY 38

Thanksgiving Day found Nippert Stadium once again completely filled. It was this throng that saw the Beacats ground under, 38-7, by the spectacular attack of a Miami eleven that went on to play in the Sun Bowl. UC played on even terms during the first quarter only to have the Redskins cut loose for two markers in the second stanza, and add a pair more in the third. UC marched 81 yards featuring runs by Stephens and Graham, the latter scoring the lone TD.

DAD'S DAY "That's my boy—that one covered with mud. Come on, hit that line a little harder this time . . . I know he's got it in him . . . and you should see that boy eat! Come on son, smear 'em!" It seems that every Dad, no matter if his son is on the football field or hovering over the books, is always on the sidelines to cheer him on to greater victories. This was certainly the case last October when dads crowded the stadium and "took over" U. C. Signs of welcome smiled at every turn and "Pop" was king as usual in all our eyes. Watching their fun on the special seats on the field, we were once again reminded that the years separating "father and son" aren't so very many after all!

Mothers, brothers, and sisters found themselves sharing the honors with "the head of the house" when the reserved section of the stadium opened wide its enjoyable, but hard, cement seats and the whole family enjoyed the game.

MIGRATION

Hats, coats, and toothbrushes were hastily shoved into pockets already stuffed with sandwiches and candy bars as we faced the early beginning of U.C.'s annual Migration Day. Crowds at the Union Terminal mingled with the students as they pressed their way onto the B. & O. train. Fifteen hundred students managed to get to Athens by train or car. It is still a question of debate whether everyone had a better time while traveling or after they arrived. The band organized at the station and led the rooters of the Red and Black to the stadium. The road travelers mixed with the crowd, and it seemed as if U. C. had taken over the town of Athens. Ohio U. made all of its facilities available, with the local chapters of fraternities and sororities following suit. U.C. finally struggled back to its own campus, tired but happy over the team's victory.

THEY ALL TURNED

In gaily colored red and white, the cheerleaders run onto the field, overloaded with king-size megaphones and pep. The first to cheer a good play, they are the last to stop cheering as a worn-out player returns to the bench. The Homecoming game saw them more energetic than ever as they showed the University of Miami, Florida true Cincinnati spirit.

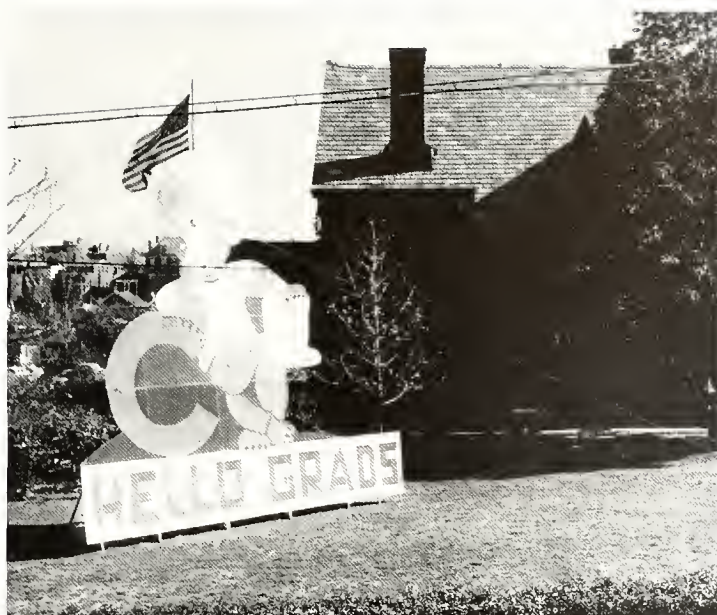

Pausing briefly between cheers are Joyce Chambers, Pat Stoll, June Schneider, Nancy Coursey, Tom Kinder, John Mohlr, Jerry Friedlander, Bernice Pontius, and Joe Beckett.

OUT FOR HOMECOMING

Homecoming found alums returning in droves to Nippert Stadium and as an extra sign of welcome, gaily decorated floats paraded in a pre-game ceremony. Ranging from enormous oranges to Florida hurricanes, these floats showed the University of Miami that they were also welcome. Hours of planning and nights of preparation had gone into the makings of this game-time entertainment, and even the band was more outstanding than usual with Don Poynter marching onto the field on a pair of stilts. The game was victorious for a hard fighting UC team and the happy crowd filtered out of the stadium, headed for fraternity and sorority houses where signs of welcome hung from every window.

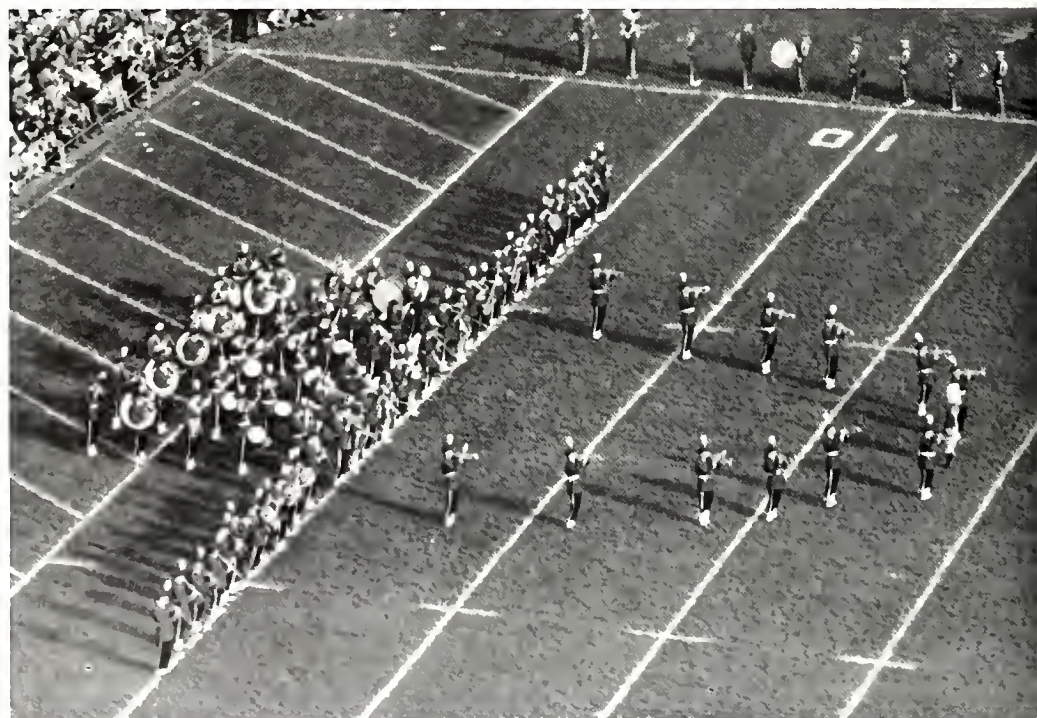

One of the highlights of every football game was the half-time show presented by the U.C. Band. Precision marching, specialty numbers, and a wide variety of formations kept the fans continually entertained.

Don Poynter, rated as one of the finest baton twirlers in the country, amazed everyone with spinning knives and flaming torches. Along with Band Sponsor Phyllis Livesay, he led the band to national prominence.

The season was climaxed on Thanksgiving Day when a wedding ceremony was presented at which time Pat Haase was joined in wedlock with the band as the 1948 Band Sponsor.

UNIVERSITY BAND

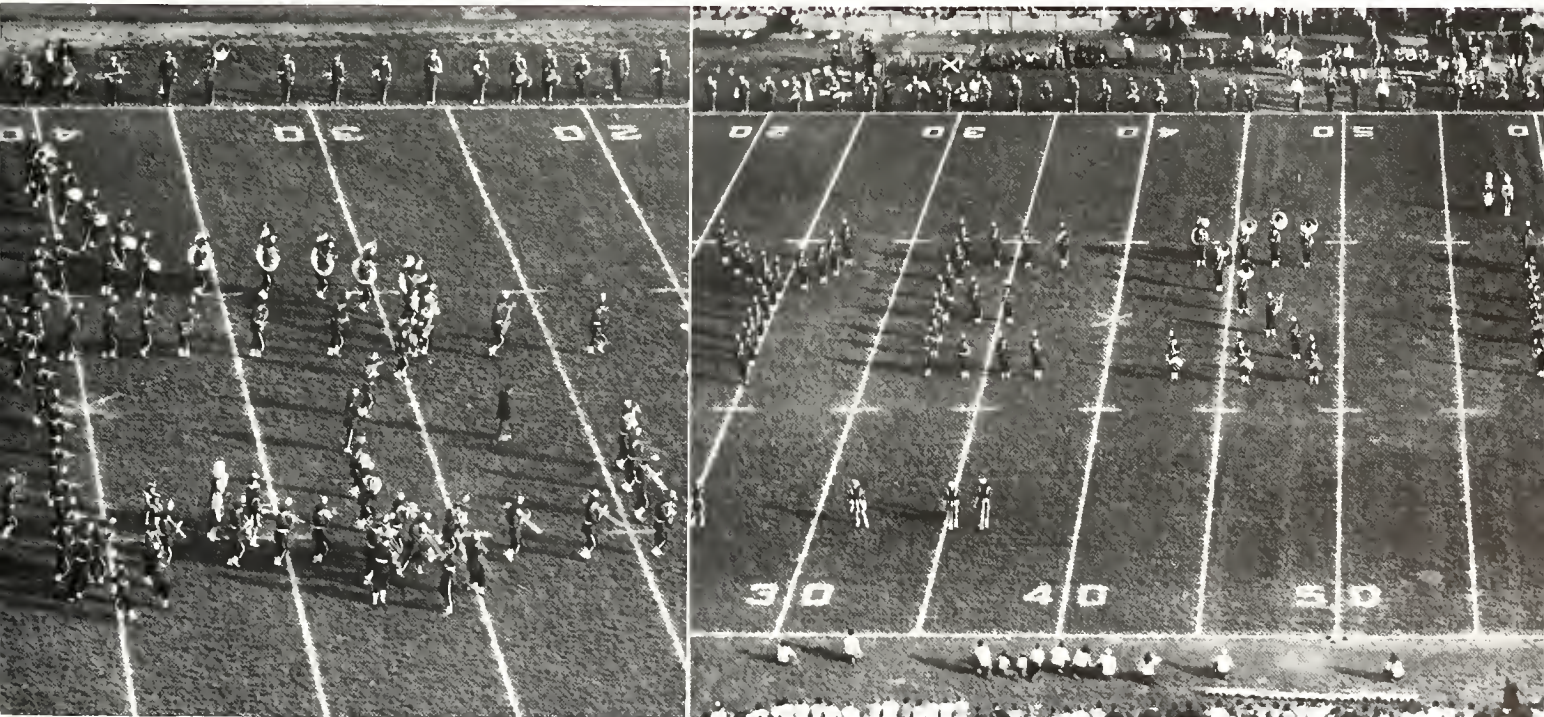

The fact that 1947 marked the most successful season in the history of the Bearcat Band can be traced in large measure to its new and complete reorganization. Under the direction of Clarence Mills, these marching musicians with their easy, precise formations are long-time favorites of all time game-going McMickenites.

Although the intricate marching patterns brought this organization into the limelight on the gridiron, any one of its members can long remember the four hours of drudging practice on Wednesday and Friday nights, when the average student reclines in a favorite form of repose. The band did not restrict its talents to the stadium alone, for much of their music was heard in other campus activities and concerts. The Varsity Vanities, which is solely a band production, proved itself a fine success; while the Band Clinic, composed of many high school bands in the city, demonstrated its high calibre of music.

However, all was not labor. Party-making was rife at Kentucky and Athens, for the band stirred up quantities of Bearcat atmosphere.

Clarence L. Mills began his musical career at the age of 12, when he decided that playing in a circus band was easier than sneaking in under the tent. After heading over 1000 musical organizations in the European theater of war, Mr. Mills, who has just finished his first year as band director at UC, has led the band with precision and skill.

Valentine's Day in 1948 meant a party for Tau Beta Sigma, the women's band honorary on campus. The Grill was transformed by large red balloons and white paper hearts. The biggest event of the evening was the crowning of the King and Queen of Hearts, whose royalty was assured when they won a bean-guessing game.

Strictly a men's organization, Kappa Kappa Psi handles the social activities of the band and welcomes visiting band members from other schools. Parties and picnics are planned during the summer to hold the band more closely together, and in May an outstanding freshman band award is given at the annual banquet.

KAPPA KAPPA PSI

To all Cincinnati, a black "C" on a red sweater means its owner has been honored by the University of Cincinnati for outstanding sportsmanship and ability in athletics. To the 200 wearers on campus and others in the know, a varsity "C" means an obligation to promote the spirit of athletics. High School students are given aid in securing scholarships and in preparing for the opportunities in U.C. athletics—football, basketball, swimming, track, cross country, rifle, gymnastics, fencing, golf, and tennis. The "C" Club sponsors the Intra-squad game and the football banquet with its awards to honor players and undergraduates. All players and managers awarded a letter are entitled to membership in the "C" Club.

CROSS COUNTRY

Once again the footpaths of Burnet Woods re-echoed to the steps of a hardy band of U.C. cross-country men. With Frank Hopper consistently out in front, the Bearcat harriers finished ahead of Ohio U., Bowling Green, and Berea, while being shaded by the excellent teams from Wayne and Ohio Wesleyan.

The Bearcats came in fourth in the Mid-American Conference Meet and second in the Elks' Thanksgiving Day Run, placing 4, 5, 6, and 10. Besides Hopper, Thorgny Haanes, Paul Johnson, Ed Brown, and Bob Wilcox won letter awards. Although the freshman squad lost its only meet to Miami 32-24, some satisfaction was gained by Coach Nickoloff when John Spessard garnered first place.

Falling leaves remind us that only a few more days of out-door study remain.

UNION BOARD

The Union Board is composed of nine members, four of whom represent the faculty, the other five the student body. The Board President is Bob Bauman, who is ably assisted by Bill Castellini as vice-president, and Helen Lawton as secretary.

Numerous duties in and around campus bring Assistant Dean of Men, William E. Alderman, in contact with student affairs and organizations. Students come to his office in the Union to learn the results of aptitude tests, for advice, or just to talk. As faculty adviser to Men's Senate, Phi Eta Sigma, and Metro, Mr. Alderman is often called upon for assistance. He finds time for sessions with the Interfraternity Council, Social Board, and other meetings at all hours of day and night. Being supervisor of the Union Building, he is responsible for operations of the Union Building, repairs, and maintenance. Mr. Alderman and the Union office capably handle all situations pertaining to the favorite building on campus.

William Alderman, Assistant Dean of Men

The primary purpose of the Union Board is to govern and direct the policies and uses of the Student Union Building. During the past year, the Board inaugurated a new social program under the direction of Betty Jane Smith, the Student Union's social director. The social committee has been reorganized into seven subcommittees, supervising recreation instruction, tournaments, art, music, out-of-town students' mixers, movies, and dances. The funds to meet the tremendous maintenance of the Union Building come, for the most part, from the student activity fee paid at the beginning of the school year.

The Union Building's Grill, card room, lounges, game room, cafeteria, meeting rooms, and offices serve as the center of student life on U.C.'s campus. By virtue of their control of the building, the Union Board and its subcommittees plan the varied activities that are so well liked and appreciated about U.C. The mixers, teas, and dances, open to all upon presentation of the Union card, are highlights of the school's social activities. To the faculty and student members of the Board goes the credit for the smooth operation and direction of the Student Union.

PLASTER BOARD BALL

Plaster casts on the wrists of 12 men on campus at the same time cannot be coincidental, especially since these men were all outstanding in college activities. The mystery was solved when Mortar Board intraduced them as the new members of Plaster Board. Following an initiation banquet at Alms Hotel, the Plaster Board Ball was held in the Student Union in honor of these men. Funds from this dance helped to swell the Mortar Baard scholarship fund.

Intermission finds the weary dancers, students and faculty alike, enjoying a rest and taking just one more opportunity to congratulate the men who now wear the plaster casts.

JUNIOR ADVISORS

Instead of leaving school early on Tuesdays, freshmen women must wait until 4:30 for a Junior Advisor to poke her smiling face in the door and say, "Today we will discuss the grading system. 5.25 is A. You will get all A's". After reviving her enlightened charges, who never expected an A until their advisor encouraged them, the junior may suggest a project such as scrapbooks or a party for hospital patients. The advisor is usually a member of the same college that her freshmen are enrolled in. For almost the entire first semester, the Junior Advisors conduct convocations, group meetings, private interviews, and a style show. In the spring the new Advisors are trained for three months, and then they prepare a skit for Orientation Day. This year's play showed a girl who wanted to be a football player and finally became a BWOC, an honor student, and a well-adjusted coed.

WIG WAG

Wig Wag is a picnic! Every Friday from 11:30-1:30 freshmen women may be seen hiking over to the Women's Building, lunch in right hand, knitting in left, and bridge on the brain. Lounging on all the couches, chairs, and floors, the girls get a chance to relax between classes, the grill, and the library. Getting to know the freshmen girls seems a fabulous task for some men on campus, but the girls get acquainted right away at these weekly meetings. Along with gossip, much has been accomplished by this social and service group. An opening tea for all freshmen girls, a bake sale for the World Youth Service Fund, two leadership programs, an Easter party for the veterans' children, and wrapping Christmas packages for Metro filled their program.

VIGILANCE

During the week of initiation for freshmen women, Vigilance, the wakeful watch, scrutinizes the novice coeds' actions carefully. Violations, such as forgetting to wear their bibs, which all freshmen women are supposed to need, were punishable by consequences at a trial in Wilson. A take-off on a Junior Advisor meeting left nothing to be desired in a real meeting except discipline and accomplishment. In the play, when each actress was accused of a sin, she named the freshmen girls who had committed the same misdemeanor. In repentance for her crime, each girl was sentenced to carry out a consequence. Try to feed someone ice cream blindfolded or put socks over galoshes in a relay race! New words to "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" resulted from another penalty. Besides furnishing such fun to freshmen women, Vigilance awards a scholarship annually.

SOPHOS

Sophos, an activity, scholarship, and athletic honorary, was installed at Cincinnati in 1931. Since then it has been offering membership to the outstanding freshmen men. Its purpose is to further school spirit and increase participation by the students in campus activities. The annual Sophos Dance is an important event of the fall. In addition Sophos sponsored spring sports—track, tennis, and baseball, hoping to make the campus more aware of these springtime athletics and increase the attendance at the games. Howard Eicher is President; Irv Behrendt, Vice-president; Bob Bauman handles the treasury; and Don Thomas is secretary.

8:00 p.m. and the whole evening to look forward to.

SOPHOS DANCE

The Sophos Dance! !—Youth, energy, beauty, and grace all bundled into one night of Freshman fury. Amidst cheers of an eager crowd each queen candidate strolls majestically across the band stand. Hundreds push and shove to get a glance at their favorites. The moment that everyone has anxiously awaited has come! To a roll of drums and a gasp of expectations, the new queen bursts through the paper jug. Showered with flowers, cups, and a crown and scepter, the lucky gal now views her subjects from the throne she adorns. And when all is over—the dancing and the music forgotten—a new Freshman class has been introduced to another of the University's colorful customs.

Texonno Peacock reigned as Sophos Queen.

A college freshman's dream come true—their first oll-compus dance complete with Sophos jug and queen! Finally the dance is over and the darkness can only offer a good night.

TOBIES

Clare Kennedy, who led the Phi Delts to victory in the Interfraternity Sing, directs the Tobies in some close harmony, while the style of pianist Bob Hatterschide lends a scintillating background.

The men with the brilliant red coats who have become popular entertainment at campus affairs call themselves the Tobies. The name is derived from the old English drinking mugs, and the members are U.C. students who sing because they enjoy it. They have been in demand at many school parties—two years in Vanities, Senior Prom, Ivy Day, orientation week, and convocations. Comparable to the Wif-fenpoofs of Yale, their selections are many and varied. Outside of school they sing professionally, and recently sang on a benefit program with Guy Lombardo.

EPSILON PHI SIGMA

The membership of Epsilon Phi Sigma is composed of people of direct Greek descent or of Greek parentage. Both day school and evening college are included in the membership, and most colleges are well represented when the group meets. This national society, still in the infant stage, had its origin in California about seven years ago, and has since grown with amazing swiftness, as the Cincinnati chapter will testify. Social pace-makers include several dances sponsored by the club where people of Greek origin gather to find that they have more than ancestors in common.

HILLEL

Hillel, known on campus as the Jewish Student Group, has a claim to more than two hundred and fifty members. In this first year of organized growth, Hillel sponsored a dance, the Birthday Ball. The purpose of this dance was to raise money for the Inter-Religious Council to be used for Religious Emphasis Week. This ball was really a "no birthday party" for Hillel, since the group is no years old as yet. A large birthday cake and a variety show added to the gaiety of the evening. However, the words, cultural, religious, and recreational, show the directions in which this organization is bent. Religious services are held each month, and a project against discrimination was carried on in the spring in conjunction with other campus groups. Speakers on many varied subjects composed the program at the monthly meetings.

President of Hillel was Jack Stern, while Marge Linnick held the office of Vice-president. Betty Rosenberger served as Treasurer, and Gloria Baker as Recording Secretary. Corresponding Secretary was Lillian Goldfarb.

The Newman Club, the official organization for Catholic undergrad students, strives to advance the spiritual, intellectual, and social character of its members. Masses and communion are participated in once a month with business meetings following. Also the group holds formal retreats, and during Lent holds discussion groups every Sunday.

All of its members realize the need of the lighter things in life as much as its more serious aspects. Therefore, their social calendar is liberally sprinkled with dances and parties. Each year the group sponsors four dances, a spring and a fall formal, a New Year's eve dance, and a mardi-gras dance. Open house every Friday gives this group a fairly active social life.

Each year the Newman Club participates in the Intramural sports at U.C., and usually ends the season with a fine record behind them.

Wesley Foundation, a national organization of the Methodist Young People's Group, works in close connection with the Clifton Methodist Church. Important activities in a philanthropic vein include sending CARE packages overseas and managing a Youth Canteen for 'teen-agers in downtown Cincinnati. Activities of Religious Emphasis Week served as a challenge, and the success of this week well rewarded the members who helped sponsor it. Once-a-month parties draw all members and the parties come to a close with everyone feeling much better acquainted and seconding the motion for more, more, more!

A collegiate counterpart of the Walther League, Gamma Delta is an outgrowth of the Lutheran Youth Movement supported by the Lutheran Church. The Alpha Pi chapter here on campus is celebrating its sixth year of participation in university affairs, and includes both day and evening college students. WESTMINSTER FOUNDATION

Firmly implanted in college life is the Westminster Foundation, the focal point for all Protestants. This national organization is supported by the Presbyterian Church, and successfully completed its second year on the U.C. campus. Daily worship is held, and twice a month the members conduct a complete service at one of the Presbyterian churches in the city. Fall and spring find the members trouting to one of the many recreation camps in this area for a weekend of fun. These semi-formal retreats are held each year and form an indispensable part of the Westminster Foundation's spiritual and social program.

UNIVERSITY Y. W. C. A.

The University YWCA gives the willing woman a chance to express herself through the medium she knows best. Varied activities include committees on Arts and Crafts, Comparative Religion, Community Service, Human Relations, and the like. Dramatics and public affairs also have their share of pleasurable work. During the spring, the Cabinet of the YW picnics with the YM, producing the plans for the forthcoming year. A highly successful Religious Emphasis Week and inter-racial group projects are a few outcomes of these well-made plans. Of interest were the discussions of Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish religions held in joint meetings with the YM. At the end of the year discussions were held concerning the various phases of the Protestant religion.

Dorothy Ann Bridges was elected president for the 1947-48 school year, while Carol Heepke and Patti Dallow carry on the work of secretary and treasurer. Miss Betty Glasson is the Executive Director.

UNIVERSITY Y. M. C. A.

Formed on the Cincinnati campus in 1889, the University YMCA is one of the oldest organizations known to the school. Truly a non-sectarian group, the "Y" offers to all the students the benefit of associations, personal, collegiate, and social service. Through their various publications, the members are informed of all the YM's activities. Best known of all is the "little red book" given to entering students to inform them of campus activities. One of the most popular aspects of the YM program is the Modern Marriage series, and the inspiring Yule Log service open to all during the Christmas season.

Richard Butler presides over the group with the help of 1st. Vice-President Robert Lodwick, and Ernest Wengler, the 2nd. Vice-President. Frank Sannenberg manages the books as Secretary-treasurer.

In 1918 barracks dotted the campus under the name of Camp Cincinnati. Housing members of the Student Army Training Corps, these wooden buildings were reminders of all the college men who left school to serve in the Army. But in 1947 the barracks returned to act as emergency classrooms and department offices. Here, for a different purpose this time, they symbolize the large influx of soldiers who have now come back to the campus.

SOCIAL BOARD

At the helm of U.C.'s party life is Social Board. Their large date-book records all affairs on campus, and Social Board wields an iron hand in deciding the dates for those all-important dances, parties, and social activities. In the midst of this whirl, these students serve on dance committees, and handle the voting for the Junior Prom. Their stamp of approval must also be on the budget for all on-campus dances.

Thus, the dates are set and the plans are made so that a college man need only consult the Social Board Calendar posted in the Union to find out when he should start working on his next date.

Metro, a service organization that has carved a memorable name for itself on the University campus, is constantly adding to its program of activities. In addition to the annual Christmas party for under-privileged children, its members have undertaken a new service. Their plans include the brightening of the Grill with scenes of other college campuses in the Mid-American Conference. Metro hopes to promote inter-collegiate spirit and friendship and to acquaint the UC students with other campus sights. With these projects Metro hopes to retain the award they received last year for the most outstanding men's organization on campus.

The 19th of December found UC resembling the toy department of a large department store with crowds of boys and girls, lots of drums and dolls, and even Santa himself. The air was filled with the spirit of Christmas and with the glad cries of happy people that day. In the two years that Metro has given the party, many persons, students and faculty alike, came to understand the saying, "It is better to give than to receive."

Glee club members, in spite of their fine efforts, were out-sung by the two hundred children. Besides the music of the Glee Club, the kids were kept laughing by the antics of Low, Hite, and Stanley. The services of this amusing trio were generously donated to the party by the Ruth Best Agency. The smiles and thanks of those many happy children were compensation enough for members of Pan-Hell, Junior Advisors, Wig Wag, and Metro who spent months planning the affair. Without the fine cooperation that it received from these organizations, the Christmas party would not have been the great success it was.

DECEMBER 19
Christmas Vacation

FRIDAY

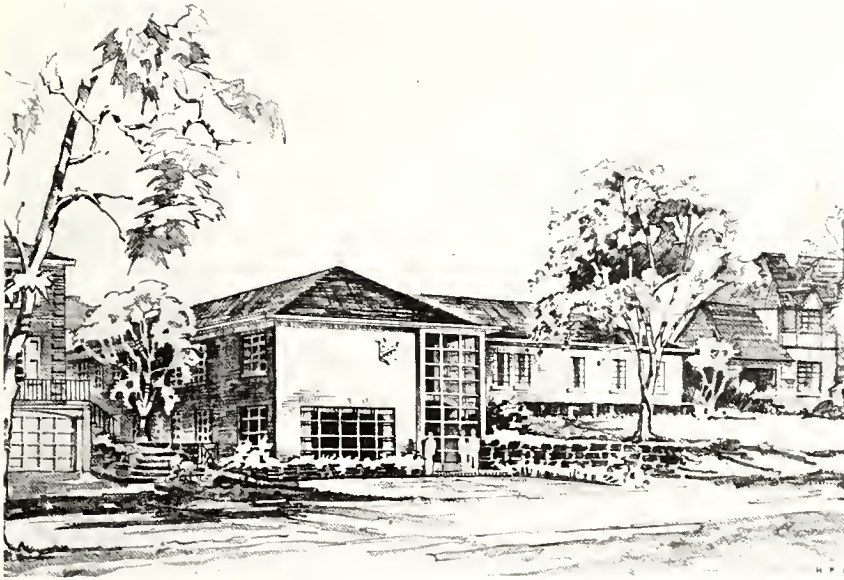

The first week in January finds us back in the swing of things after a roaring Christmas vacation. The campus looks the same—that is with the exception of the Health Service. Dr. Chenoweth and Dr. Boyd become the busiest people on campus as the Health Service works overtime to cope with the "after-Christmas rush". Seems like too good a time was had by all, and colds, sore throats, and the like that couldn't be admitted in the face of all the parties at home had to be awned up to now that classes had resumed. Nurses busied themselves with cough syrup and sun lamps—reminiscing about the good old days when their only worry was a football player's broken leg.

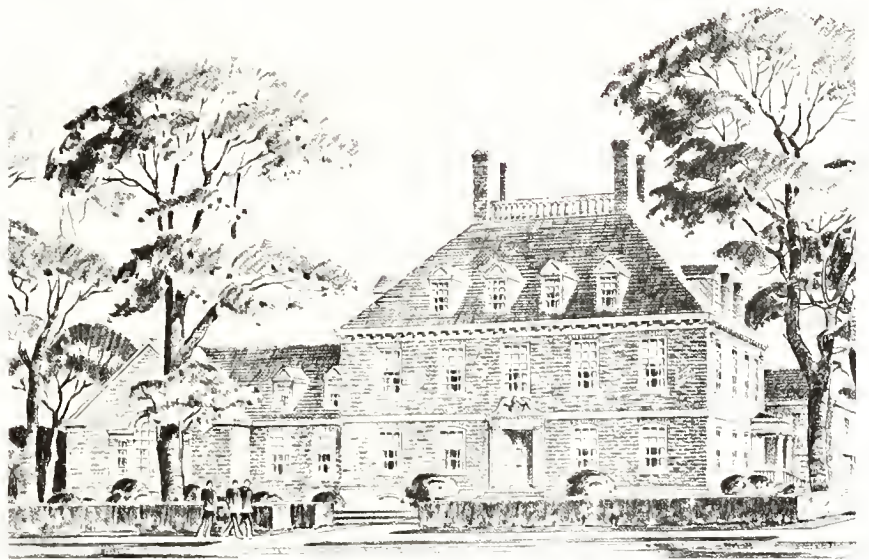

Just as the last strains of "White Christmas" have lazily drifted into eternity, the New Year is ushered in with a tremendous crash and a boatload of New Year's resolutions. Sophomores and post-grads alike contemplate lots of study, hours of sleep, and numerous extra-curricular activities. But somehow the first Saturday of the New Year rolled around and very peculiar things began to happen. With a terrific date on our minds, and an awful lack of will power, something had to be eliminated. What? Oh, our resolutions, of course!

PHI DELTA THETA CENTENNIAL

Phi Delta Theta's dream has finally been realized on its one-hundredth anniversary nationally and fiftieth on campus. In realizing its dream, the Phi Delt's have been busy with the construction of their new chapter house on Digby Avenue. This new house will furnish better housing and recreation facilities.

In 1848 at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, Phi Delta Theta was brought into the fold of the great Greek Letter Fraternities. Ohio Theta is helping Ohio Alpha, the Mother Chapter, celebrate its one-hundredth anniversary by being co-hosts to the National Convention at Oxford, Ohio. The completion of the beautiful New Memorial Headquarters Building is symbolic of another step toward continual progress in the approaching hundred years.

Though "To Burnett Woods" is the proverbial battle cry in spring, the park does not suffer desertion in the winter. Snow falls and activities boom. Anyone lucky enough to be able to talk one of the children who crowd the hills out of his sled is in for an afternoon of fun and spills—those hills become amazingly steep! The more sedate look up skates and struggle until numb feet send them to the fire, while the most unlucky students who labor in afternoon labs have to sneak in an hour at lunch for the never-dying snow-ball fights.

Curvacious snow women decorate the lawns of fraternity houses, while the idol of every co-ed finds himself molded into the snow man that stands in front of every sorority house. T. C. is not without decoration either, as aspiring kindergarten teachers put into practice classroom principles on winter-recess recreation. Even the Student Union dining room feels the presence of winter. Strangely enough, large size trays mysteriously disappear from sight until seen underneath howling dorm dwellers who slide down the hill in front of Memorial Dorm. Those who crave excitement on a higher level load their cars and dates with skis and toboggans for a weekend party. Monday finds them telling glowing accounts of all that happened and sending cookies to the hospital convalescent who just hadn't been able to make that last turn.

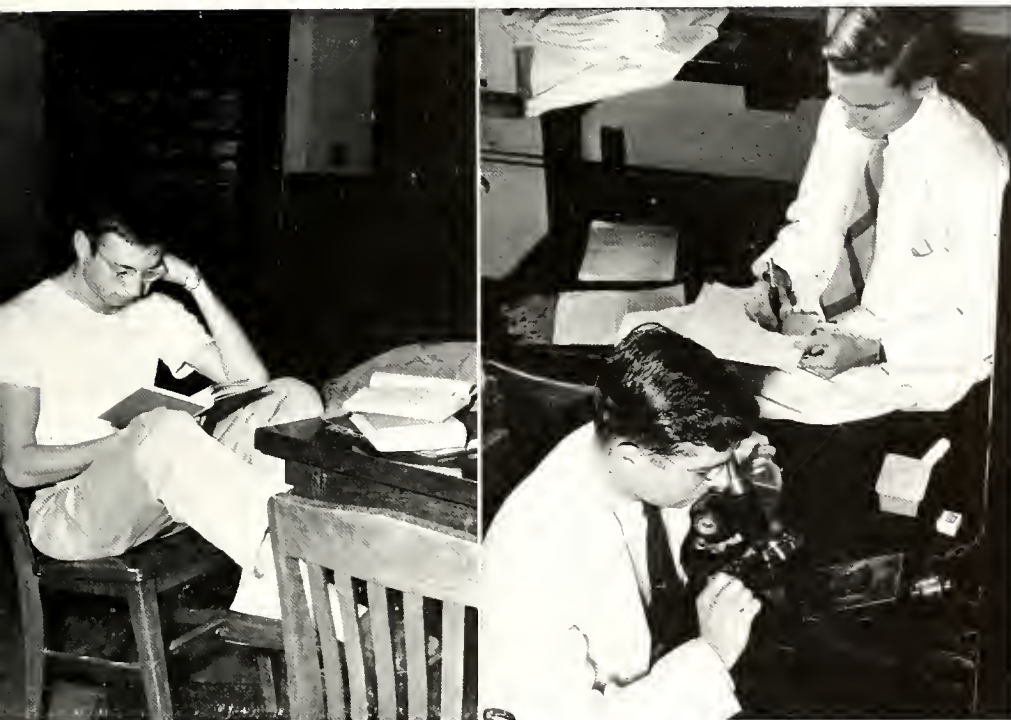

Winter—and a whole new wardrobe appears on the scene. Ignoring "Vogue", "Mademoiselle", and "Esquire", college students haul out moth eaten fur coats and army parkas. Clumsy stadium boots, propelled by delicate looking coeds, clomp down the hills while men wear ear muffs for the double purpose of deadening the noise in the halls, and softening the cold wind out doors.

"College life" is mentioned and standard thoughts of fraternity pins, beer parties, and cutting classes flash into mind, but soon we are remembering that the original purpose of college lies in the same classes that form the basis of our conversation—pleasant or otherwise. Upper campus students find midterms and exams constantly crowding the calendar. The lower campus never seems to be able to recover from the rigors of one seventh week until another is upon them. Zoology majors smell up the grill with a faint odor of formaldehyde, while the "Grill students" reciprocate and lend the odor of stale cigarette smoke to their folk dancing lessons.

CLASSES

A wide variety of courses fill the pages of the University catalogue and students who cut up clay find themselves talking to those who hold a knife over a frog. "From Browning to Thomas Hardy" shares honors with "From Cave Drawing to Dali" while any Home Ec. student can tell an unsuspecting aeronautical engineer how to open a can. The Law students with their court room sequences laugh at Med students hurrying to cadaver sessions. Dr. Kreider is as much a topic of discussion as Dr. Baude when complaining college students find themselves staring at the book-lined walls of the library. Lectures and labs, labs and lectures—that's college spelled backwards.

SPEAKERS BUREAU

Serving Cincinnati and small Ohio towns in the near vicinity, the Speakers Bureau runs a booming year-round business. Each fall a list of speakers and their specific talks are sent to all organizations in Cincinnati. A variety of discussions is offered, including book reviews, dramatic monologues, and talks on professional subjects. The Speakers Bureau hopes by this method to give their members added experience and to keep the University in the eyes of the public.

Amidst the confusing whirl of the beginning of college life, one of the most outstanding organizations on campus encourages the bewildered freshman women to settle down and study. This society is Alpha Lambda Delta, an honorary society for freshman women who have maintained a certain high average throughout the first year. The tea that is given in the fall of the year serves the purpose of making new friendships and gives extra incentive to strive for membership in this honorary. The full meaning of Alpha Lambda Delta is explained to incoming coeds, who strive to reach their first high goal in their college careers. Their pin, a lighted torch, is worn proudly each spring by the freshman women who have proved themselves worthy of all the goals of Alpha Lambda Delta.

Getting off to an early start by initiating seventy-five men and the University President, Phi Eta Sigma surged through several successful social affairs and into a much more prominent position on campus. A smoker was held in the spring for all men of the Freshman class who had made the Dean's List for two consecutive sections. The purpose was to encourage these men to retain their high average and thus insure their initiation into this organization. Dean Bird was the guest speaker and Dean Alderman, who doesn't give speeches, but rather has a few words to say, added his part to the program. Nathaniel Ross also spoke, telling the men the purpose and aim of Phi Eta Sigma. After these addresses, films were shown of general interest to men. And as this gathering was a smoker, free cigarettes were in abundance. The Freshman men left feeling that here was an honorary worth belonging to.

INTERFRATERNITY DANCE

It was a cold February evening when members of the various fraternities and their dates invaded the Topper Club for the annual Inter-fraternity Dance. Cries of greetings to friends not seen since the nine-thirty class mingled with the danceable music of Charlie Kehrner as the men maneuvered their dates towards the crowded dance floor. As the lights went out, the multi-colored sphinx lit up for the waltzes. Entertainment was provided in the form of a preview of the Varsity Vanities of 1948. As the dance drew to a close, the crowd thinned out, disclosing a cloud of cigarette smoke permeating the air along with enough good will to last until the next annual dance.

BASKETBALL

Concluding one of their most successful seasons, the University of Cincinnati basketball team rolled over 17 opponents while dropping into the loss column 7 times. Proclaimed city champs by virtue of the stunning 52-45 victory over Xavier, the Bearcats nosed out Butler to win the Mid-American Conference championship. After the final buzzer, statistics showed that Cincinnati had chalked up 1528 points while their opposition countered with 1330.

In a just tribute to the fine coaching of John Wiethe, UC received a bid to participate in the NAIB tournament in Kansas City, but the Bearcat officials decided against post season competition. Through the efforts of promoter Sam Feinberg, UC met some of the most formidable quintets in the country and had one of the toughest inter-sectional schedules.

Wins over Southern Methodist, Utah (last year's National Champs), Western Michigan, Duquesne, LaSalle, and Xavier couched comment throughout the nation, as the Bearcats were considered the underdog in each case. On the other side of the ledger, UC was thoroughly trounced twice by the Kentucky Wildcats. Three other Cincinnati losses were heartbreakers as they were nosed out by a couple of points.

The outlook for next year? Cincinnati won't lose a player. You be the judge.

Many plaudits have been heaped on Dick Dallmer, recipient of Ulex's outstanding player award for the 1947-48 season. Dick sparked his team to many victories, the climax being the Bearcat's victory over Xavier. Although never treading the hardwood courts of Hamilton High School, Dick journeyed to Old McMicken and quickly found a starting birth on the Cincinnati quintet. Dallmer has another year at UC and would like to follow his All-American cousin into the professional ranks.

The Bearcats inaugurated their successful hoop season by trouncing Southern Methodist 59-46. Cincinnati, led by Alvin Rubenstein, came from behind late in the final half to defeat the Texans. Kentucky invaded Music Hall and handed the Red and Black their first set-back by a decisive 67-31 score. In the next game, the last 27 seconds proved disastrous for UC as Villanova eeked out a 70-68 win. The Bearcats third consecutive defeat came at the hands of North Carolina State by a 65-54 count. Ralph Richter continued his high scoring by averaging 15 points per game.

A victory over Utah pushed the Bearcats into the limelight, as last year's national champs were highly favored. Again Ralph Richter and the fine play of Dick Dallmer, Bill Westerfield, and Bill Anderson did the trick. A trip to Cleveland netted the 'Cats a win over Western Reserve while three nights later Wayne fell to the Cliftonites in the UC gym by a decisive 92-52 score. Valparaiso snowed the Bearcats in an overtime period at Music Hall. A week later Miami, in their gym, found Cincy's range and won by a 1 point margin. A trip to Dayton proved very successful for UC as did a meeting with Anderson, Indiana, at the Hall. Kentucky, on their home floor, again trounced Cincinnati.

Wins over Butler and Dayton in the UC Field House was the prelude to the Michigan trip which netted the Red and Black victories over Western Michigan and Wayne. Substituting only once, Wiethe's charges upset a highly favored Duquesne quintet 55-41. It was the Dukes second defeat as Alvin Rubenstein and Jack Laub played spectacular ball. A rough and tumble game punctuated UC's second win over Butler at Indianapolis. Charlie Clickner's one-handed shot in the last 11 seconds proved the margin of victory. Ohio U. handed UC their last defeat in a game at Athens.

Western Reserve and Miami met defeat in the UC gym as Jack Laub and Dick Dallmer paced their teammates. LaSalle dropped their third game as the Bearcats turned on the steam. Cincinnati won the Mid-American title by slaughtering the Ohio U. Bobcats in a return match, 90-46. The Bearcats rang down the curtain on their banner year by upsetting the favored Xavier Musketeers 52-45. Dick Dallmer, Alvin Rubenstein, Jack Laub, Ralph Richter, and Don Monk led the Clifton lads as they won the Queen City championship and gave the Musketeers their second home court loss.

Weeks of campaigning and publicizing were climaxed when Gordon Reed awarded a cup and flowers to the newly elected Junior Prom Queen. As happy as her Kappa Delt sisters, Carol Rannells reigned at the Junior Prom of '48.

The twentieth of February found the Topper Club filled to capacity as the Junior Prom climaxed the social events of the winter season. The most publicized dance of the year proved to be a complete success as the crowd swayed to the music of Johnny Long and his orchestra. The "new look" in women's fashions more than compensated for the lack of corsages which had been outlawed by the prom committee. This idea had been readily accepted by the students and the only flowers to be seen were the orchids worn by the Prom Queen candidates.

Johnny Long entertained throughout the evening with specialty numbers such as "Shanty Town" until, with the arrival of midnight, the candidates were introduced to the waiting crowd. Cheers and applause echoed throughout the hall when the 1948 Prom Queen was announced, and happy sorority sisters rushed to the side of the winner to add congratulations.

A short time later the dance came to a close, leaving only memories of one of the best proms ever held in the Queen City.

Strong men for the squad were co-captains Charlie Keating and Roy Lagaly. Keating, 1st line All-American 1946, N C A A champion 1946, and fifth in the National 50 yard freestyle finals, was a member of the medley relay team and holder of two of UC's pool records. He received honorable mention All-American in 1947 and 1948 and was a member of the fourth place National AAU medley relay team. Roy Lagaly, record holder in the 440 yd. free style race, swam his last for the Bearcats and thus ended the long domination in his field of events. He was a former Army Olympic champion and national high school champ, as well as Cincinnati's greatest distance swimmer.

Bill Keating, state high school champion and state AAU champion for 100 yd. breast stroke, was also a member of the world record holding medley relay team for 150 yd. course. He was a former Purdue star and Indiana state champion while serving in the Navy. Roy Stickney, state champion three times for 50 yd. free style and triple-time runner-up for 100 yd. backstroke, was also a member of the record holding relay team.

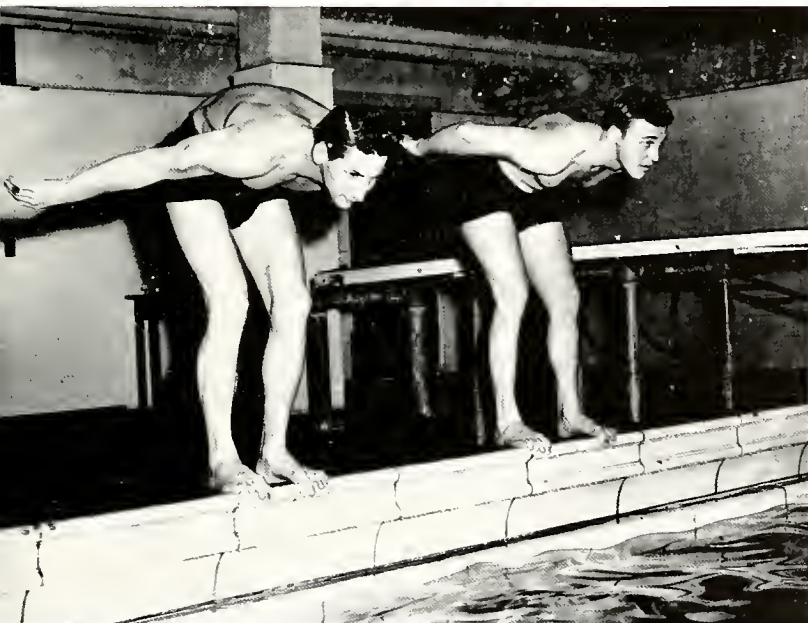

SWIMMING

1948 found the mermen stacked with talent as never before in UC history. This was the team that set and holds five of UC's pool records and at least one record in the pool of each of its opponents. Michigan State and Indiana were the only two teams to beat the Bearcats in dual competition and even then the mermen showed more class than the opponents, the lack of depth proving fatal in the final point totals. The squad placed second in the hotly contested Central Collegiate meet in which thirty-seven teams participated. Honorable mention All-American fell to the medley relay team that set a 2:58 time for the event in our pool, a record that is expected to stand for many years. Six members of the team were placed on Cincinnati's nationally contending Coca Cola team which includes stars in its post season competition from many of the best swim teams in the country. No Mid-American Conference meet was held, but the Bearcats figured as easy victors over the one conference school (Ohio U.), and comparative scores show the swimmers to be in a class by themselves for the MAC competition.

Fred "Tiny" Pfeiffer was the successful pilot of the mermen. He completed his fourteenth year at UC and topped it with his third highly successful post-war season. Tiny has long been a swimming mentor and knows every trick of the trade, being famous throughout the country for his high school and college products.

LATIN AMERICAN CLUB

The Latin American Club, after an inconspicuous start two years ago, is now organized into a well-knit, compact organization. Among its members, the group boasts students from fourteen countries including Latin American countries, France, Italy, China, and India. This group, aided by the Spanish Club of the Evening College, sponsored a dance at the Hotel Alms during the winter. The unprecedented number of three hundred and forty people attended, among them students of Miami and Xavier Universities. To the music of Jack Jellison and his orchestra, two contests of dancing skill were held. The first a rhumba contest, open only to Americans, while the second, a jitterbugging affair, was only for foreign-born students. Tastefully done, the dance proved to be so popular as to warrant another one in the spring.

Although the membership is mainly foreign, the club's proceedings are carried on in English by the president, Antonio Solines, who is assisted by vice-president Tolo Rimsky and treasurer Dorrit Friedlander.

STUDYING

Seventh week and Midterms—the library suddenly becomes a very crowded building. Activities take a back seat as the only problem worth consideration is passing the exams. Finally the week is over and as a fitting reward, section change parties follow!

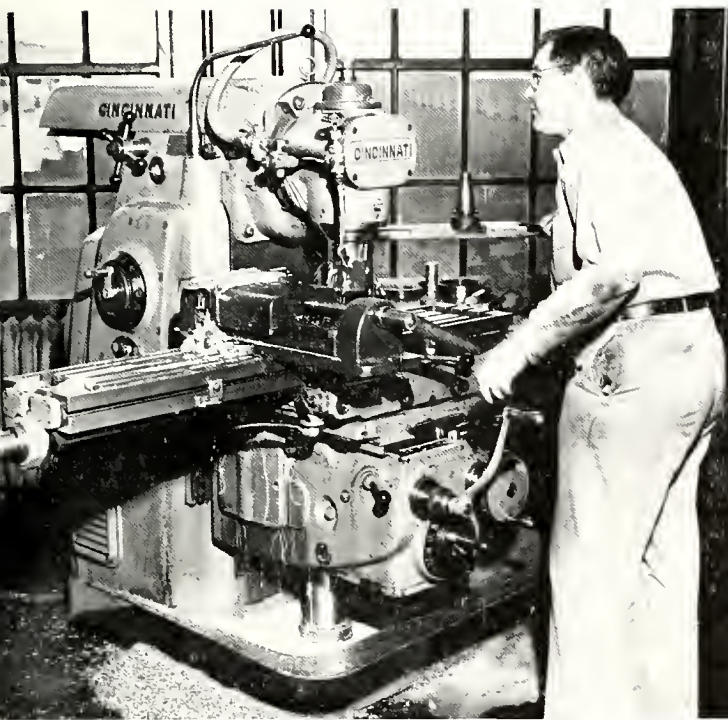

SECTION CHANGE

Songs and laughter fill the air as students gather for a traditional section change party. Furthest from their minds are the lectures and labs which have just been completed.

Celebrating a victory over the past seven weeks, the students of the quadrangle park their tackle boxes and thank their rabbit's foot that section change has come. Immediately, they head for their favorite hangout, Shipley's, Ed's, or the C. B. These Engineering, Bus. Ad., or Applied Arts students might also retire to a private home for singing and general merry-making. Their last quiz finished and their final project glued together the night before and handed in with promises of improved work on their jobs, these students are wistfully envied by the rest of the grinding campus.

CO-OP JOBS

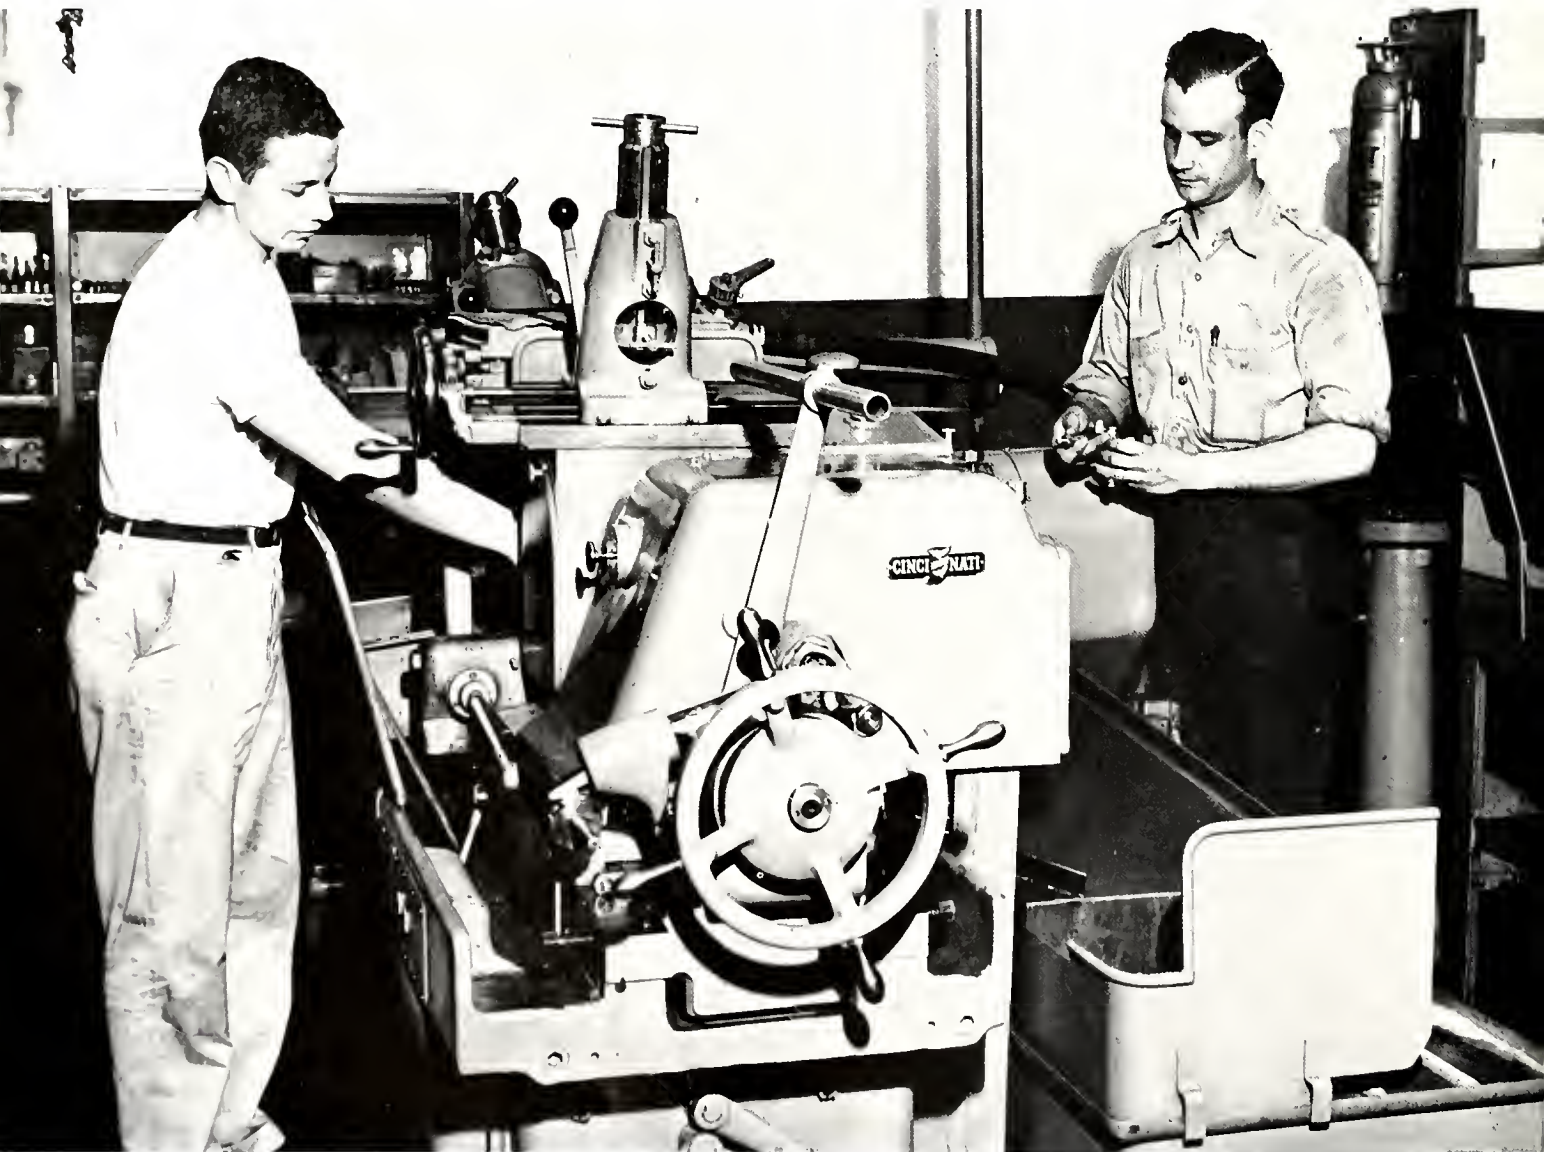

The Cooperative System was originated on the University of Cincinnati's campus in September, 1906, under the direction of Dean Herman Schneider. At this time, the first co-op class had the overwhelming number of twenty-seven students. A coordinated system was set up whereby the student spent six years of alternate weeks in classroom instruction and in practical work in the industries of Cincinnati. With two students alternating on the same job and at school, the school and the shop were always manned. During that first year, the University cooperated with fifteen firms, composed for the greater part of companies manufacturing electrical equipment.

In the following decade, the idea of co-operation took hold, the school enlarging all the while. The range covered by the firms working with the University soon covered the greater part of the Mid-West, until today work may be found in almost every part of the country. The length of the course was reduced to five years and the four-year program eliminated entirely until the advent of the war. The co-op system has taken root in other schools in the country, clearly demonstrating the advantages of alternate work and study.

Once every seven weeks, the Engineering co-ops return to the Quadrangle colleges to scrub the dirt from beneath their fingernails. These hardy people forsake the humdum activity of getting up to meet eight-thirty class for a seven-week "vacation" with pay. Branching out both east and west, their work may take them to machine shops, plane hangers, and power stations all over the country, where the invaluable training given them will help them both in school and in later life.

Not all co-ap students are relegated to menial work in the outside world; there are those from the Colleges of Business Administration and Applied Arts who may be found in clerical or white-collar jobs. The lucky may even find employment with some business firms, or companies in the designing field. With contacts from Maine to California, the student may obtain varied and valuable experience.

In the spring of each year, Co-ep girls' fancies turn to the annual banquet given in honor of all senior women. The presentation of the Pi Chi Epsilon ring is the featured event of the evening, and, as tradition will have it, an outstanding senior is honored with this award. This group is a combination of the women students of the Colleges of Engineering, Business Administration, Commerce, and Applied Arts.

Though the arrival of Spring brings greener grass, venturesome co-eds find the water scarcely above the freezing point.

With the arrival of warm weather, units of the R.O.T.C. return to the drill fields to prepare for spring military reviews. Uniforms are pressed and shoes regain a high luster. After hours of practice, the companies are ready to pass in review.

To add to the ceremonies, an honorary Cadet Colonel was selected by U.C.'s military units. Miss Aileen Keller was introduced as the recipient of this honor at the Military Ball which was held the early part of April.

The largest branch of the U.C. Military Department, the Air R.O.T.C., provides excellent training for men interested in military aviation. Trips to such places as Wright Field at Dayton, Ohio, give the students a chance to see theories actually put into practice.

Studying the multitude of parts in a 57 mm. Recoilless Gun keeps Ordinance students busy.

Armament is an important phase of all military training, and R.O.T.C. students find it one of the most interesting. They soon learn the procedure for tearing down and assembling the guns that will later be used on the firing ranges.

One of the most pleasant duties of Pershing Rifles, National Honorary Military Society, was their training of the candidates for Honorary Cadet Colonel. Each of the candidates drilled a squad of Pershing Riflemen to show her skill and knowledge of military drill and discipline. An initiation field problem at Camp Friedlander and the installation of Pershing Rifles at Xavier University filled out the schedule.

In the spring of the year Scabbard and Blade cooperates with the faculty members in presenting its annual Military Ball. This year it was held in the Great Hall of the Student Union Building on April 3, with Barney Rapp's orchestra. Featured was the presentation of the honorary Cadet Colonel, who led the Grand March along with several visitors of distinction.

SCABBARD AND BLADE

The purpose of Guidon, national women's auxiliary of Scabbard and Blade, is to develop citizenship and leadership among its members and to relate them more closely with the work of the government. Company E., established at the University of Cincinnati in 1934, acted as hostesses at the R.O.T.C. sponsored tea dances. Guidon also assisted in planning of the Military Ball, at which the new pledges were tapped. They add a touch of femininity at an otherwise masculine-dominated football field by marching with the honor guard at all the football games. No mid-game entertainment would be complete without the splash of red that their highly colored jackets add.

With the season nearly completed, the University of Cincinnati Rifle and Pistol Club was assured of at least a third in the Southwestern Ohio Rifle League. In intercollegiate competition, the Bearcat Riflemen climaxed their season by finishing second to Ohio State in the Midwestern Intercollegiate Meet. The only shoulder to shoulder dual competition of the year saw UC again falling before the sharp-shooting Buckeyes, 1350-1308. In postal matches, where the scores are sent through the mail, Indiana Technical College was defeated, while Oregon State and Massachusetts Institute of Technology managed to edge the Bearcats.

The lights of Wilson Auditorium shine day and night as the spirit of production runs high. In the spring, groups of eager actors, stage crews, and musicians find excitement and experience behind the footlights of the much-in-demand stage.

Planning the year's activities for the Mummers Guild keeps the officers and board members busy. President John Fuhrman, a veteran Mummers actor, carefully guides the group as they prepare for the next production.

MUMMERS

The '47-'48 season of the Mummers Guild saw three plays of Shaw, Wilder, and Rice achieving success under the able direction of Mr. John Maxwell. Each one of these productions were thoroughly enjoyed and well deserving of a round of applause by those of us who were "out front". For the first production of the year, Mr. Maxwell chose "The Skin of Our Teeth". Filled with the staging of the Ice Age, Noah's Ark, and a World War, this play brought down the house with "different" stage techniques.

Next in the parade of U.C. entertainment came "Devil's Disciple". 1777 and the American Revolution seemed a bit too much for Bernard Shaw, but Mummers proved that it could pull an author's bad moment up by its shoestrings.

To close the season and add a preview of the approaching Summer months, "Street Scene" hit the Wilson stage with a heat wave. Life problems, family comedy, plus a touch of boy-girl love affairs were all a part of the show that lowered the curtain on the last Guild production of the year.

Just as important as the actors themselves are the individuals who comprise the multitude of committees and crews backstage. Students working on properties, set design, lights, and makeup are the "powers behind the throne" in any production.

This year the three productions that have crossed the stage at Wilson Auditorium have shown an overwhelming amount of talent and originality in student endeavors.

Many an interesting experience and outstanding opportunity is in store for those who take their place in the wings and production booth on opening night.

VARSITY VANITIES

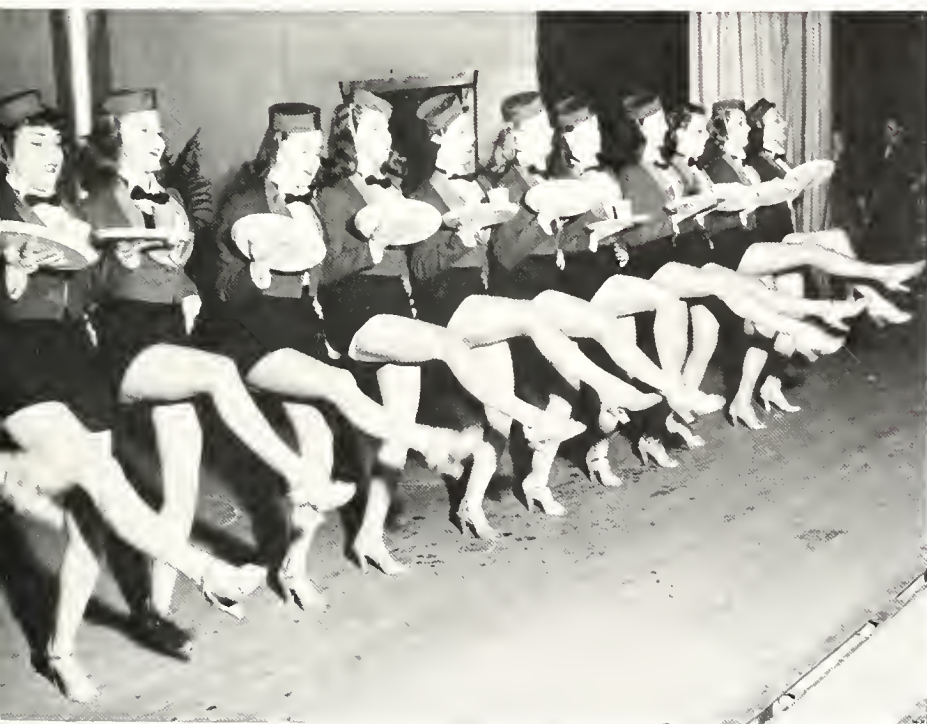

The Varsity Vanities of 1948 returned to a sell-out audience at Wilson with their presentation of "Quiet Please." Complete with a continuity telling of a lavish hotel run by ex-GI's, the musical comedy was filled with specialty numbers. Many familiar faces returned, and some new ones added their acts, along with the Indians, seal trainers, and trapeze artists of the story. The pony chorus kicked their way into newspaper reviews to help make the Varsity Vanities of 1948 a show that next year's company will have a hard time to equal. Students are still chuckling over such remarks as "I'm a psychiatrist" and "Ca-a-tain Ja-a-ack, you're ba-a-ack!"

The practice lights shone long into the night as Director McSpadden plus a few able assistants pushed and shoved a willing cast into one of the biggest hits on U.C.'s campus in years!

An applauding and wide-eyed audience caught sparkling smiles, short hemlines, and rhythmical dancing as the "panys" pranced into the spotlight.

ARTS BOARD

President John Winslow brings the Arts Board meetings to order. Ruth Schafstall was elected vice-president; Robert Waterfield does his part by taking the minutes; and Dick Duble aids by collecting the money.

Students of U.C., interested in classics and in spreading culture in general, formed the Arts Board about a year and a half ago. The Board is divided into workshops: music, dramatics, photography, poster, and table games. These workshops also sponsor individual activities such as the picture picnic held in the month of May by the photo workshop. Armed with a "35" on one limb, and a date on the other, the group set out with light meters. The day was a success, everyone having learned, through experience, the correct exposure for rainy weather. As a service to the entire organization, a membership card gives admittance to the office of the Arts Board for the purpose of relaxing by listening to records or discussing the latest in classics.

GLEE CLUB TRIP

The Friday night before a long-awaited Spring vacation found the Glee Clubbers, baggage included, at the Union Terminal. There to carry the troupe on its way was an Iron Horse of the vintage of '89. In the face of many doubts, however, everyone arrived at Niagara Falls at the scheduled time and busied themselves in trying to forget the aches and pains resulting from the "unaccustomed comfort" of the train. It was a brief stop, though, and by Saturday night the Glee Club was under the spell of the magic city, New York. Three glorious days—but two concerts and numerous auditions left all too little time for sightseeing. Lucky were the few who managed a trip in the rain to the Statue of Liberty and the Empire State Building.

Thursday night was spent on the train again, this time enroute to Philadelphia. The journey was enlivened with outbursts of songs (not included in the concert repertoire) and improvements on Culbertson.

Sherwood Kains, director of the Glee Club, came to UC in 1929 and has been here ever since. Although losing him next year to his own music school at Saronoc Lake, N. Y., the training he has given through his direction of the glee clubs, Oratorio Society, and the University Sings will long be remembered.

GLEE CLUB

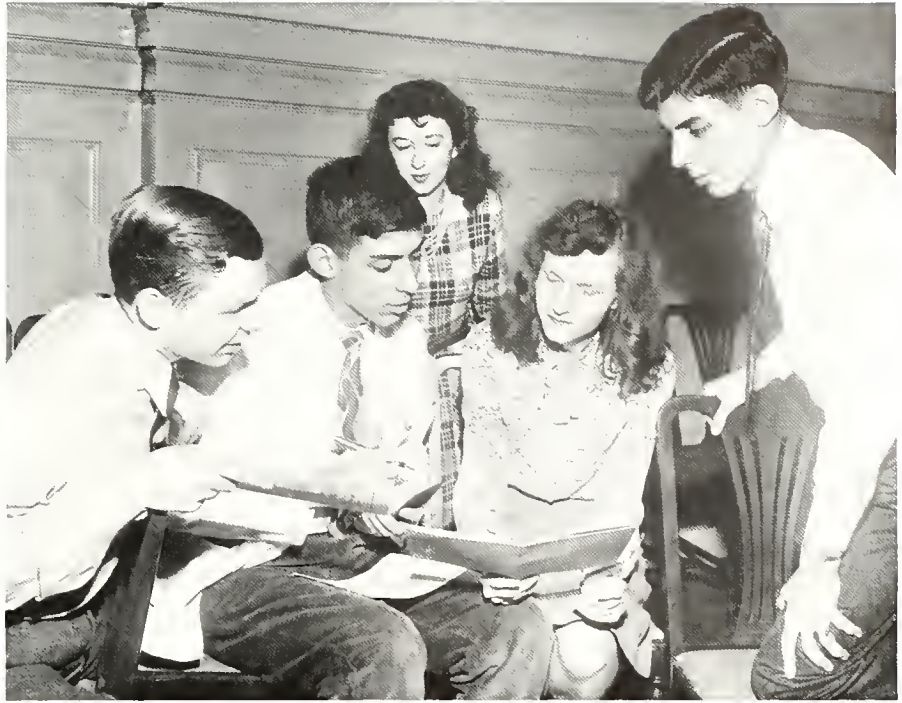

"That's not a tone, that's a disease," exclaims "Chief" Kains whenever his 200 enthusiasts hit the wrong chord. "You have to put some 'schmaltz' in it!" After many hours of practicing, they are finally able to round out their tones and get rid of that Cincy twang.

When the fellows don their black tuxes, and the women their long black skirts, they are suddenly transformed into a majestic choir. It is this group that provides entertainment for the convocations, the Lounge concerts, and many conventions. At Christmas time, after thrilling the school with "Silent Night" in German, and other favorites, they add their red woolens and go out carolling.

Of course, it's not all work, for the Glee Club has several functions solely for their own enjoyment—the fall picnic, the post-carolling party, and the "Thank-goodness-the-year-is-over" party. Last but not least are those paradoxical "Prayer meetings" during which all the club members drink, sing, and make glee.

The presidency of this very active organization falls on Bob La Camera. His assistants, Shirley Wendel, the vice-president, Joy Redmon, the secretary, Bob Richter, the treasurer, Frank La Camera, the Business manager, and Shirley Bennett, the librarian, enable Bob to also attend his classes.

For three long hours during the week and with the certainty of added rehearsals before concerts, the Glee Club practices are not merely social gatherings. Even the "big shot" engineers are taken down a peg when Mr. Kains corrects their pitch. With the tenors' tonsils adding to the din, which amazingly turns out to be a pleasing melody, it is surprising that someone doesn't complain about the noise. But when the members really give out, Laws Auditorium vibrates with their songs.

"My Favorite Advertisement" was the theme when the Applied Arts Tribunal presented their traditional Beaux Arts Ball in the Great Hall of the Union. Fashioned after the Beaux Arts Ball of Paris, the guests came in costumes representing nationally advertised products. Animated tubes of toothpaste, cigarettes, and bottles of perfume or wine are but a few of the items that joined the crowd.

The faculty was definitely not to be outdone by the students in the originality of their costumes which ranged from liquor to gasoline to soap and back to nuts. For this big event, everyone left their air of aloof sophistication in the class room and joined in the spirit of the ball.

BEAUX ARTS BALL

Early in the spring, Applied Arts students could be found thrashing over ideas for the annual Beaux Arts Ball. After the theme had been decided upon, the hard work began. Sleepless nights were spent in Swift while decorations were being designed and painted. The finished projects were then hauled to the Great Hall in the Student Union the afternoon of the dance.

When the crowd arrived, they were greeted by billboards rivaling the gaiety of Times Square, but the costumes of the crowd itself were even more elaborate. Walking advertisements packed the floor when the music began. However, the amazing lack of jitter-bugging was accredited to the confining costumes.

Entertainment was furnished by the skits of the various classes of the college. Even the faculty joined in, which proved to be the highlight of the evening. The climax came when the Grand March was announced and the judges took their places. One by one the participants were eliminated until only the most outstanding remained. Rewards for their ingenuity came in the prizes they carried home.

As the people filtered out of the Union, the clean-up crews began their work and the decorations that took weeks of preparation came down in a matter of minutes.

And what could be better for study than Burnett Woods?

Along with budding trees and the first signs of Spring come the art students and their drawing boards.

Edna Jane Woolsey captains the team of W.A.A. and Dottie Peacock calls the plays as Corresponding Secretary, while Pat Haase assists as Vice President.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Women's Athletic Association, better known as W.A.A., includes all the women on U.C.'s campus. The active members are girls who have participated in several of the activities which the association offers. The Board, composed of the officers elected by the active members plus the appointed heads of the different sports activities and committees, contributed their abilities to insure a fun-packed and interesting season. Edna Jane Woolsey, gavel in hand, has guided the group through a successful year which was climaxed on March 20th when approximately fifteen colleges participated in the annual Playday. The faculty advisors cannot be forgotten, for several husbands have been kept waiting while their wives have been busy with W.A.A. affairs.

STANDING—Bertram, G.; Keininger, D.; Terry, I.; Davis, M.; Hughes, J.; Spencer, M.; Newland, F.; Heisel, R.

The W.A.A. year is divided into three major seasons—fall, winter, and spring. While some sports are restricted to a specific season, others are carried on throughout the year.

The W.A.A. tennis tournament was held in the fall this year because of the previous experience with the rainy spring season. Catherine Jo Leis was the grand champion by nosing out Marilyn Retz, the defending champ, in an evenly matched set. Although no tournament was held in the spring, girls were always warming up their tennis rackets for the summer vacation.

Hockey is exclusively a fall sport. Whether it was cold, hot, raining, or snowing, the hockey fans strapped on their shin guards, grabbed a hockey stick, and slid down the muddy embankment to the hockey field where they exerted all their energy running up and down the field after a little ball. After the girls had perfected their skill, other schools were challenged and met.

ARETE

ROW I—Welch, A.; Westerkamm, B.; Hughes, J.; Bertram, G.
 ROW II—Hoose, P.; Harris, E.; Smith, R. C.; Bonfield, B.; Gardner, S.
 ROW III—Newland, F.; Steinfeld, S.; Zwick, R.; Nagel, P.; Rodenberg, E.; Chambers, J.

For girls carrying a major or minor in physical education, Arete offers a well-rounded program. Raising money for scholarships, co-sponsoring the pep rally before the Miami game, and helping with Playday are but a few of their many activities.

In the fall and again in the spring, all modern Robinhoods were found drawing their bow strings and shooting their arrows into the air.

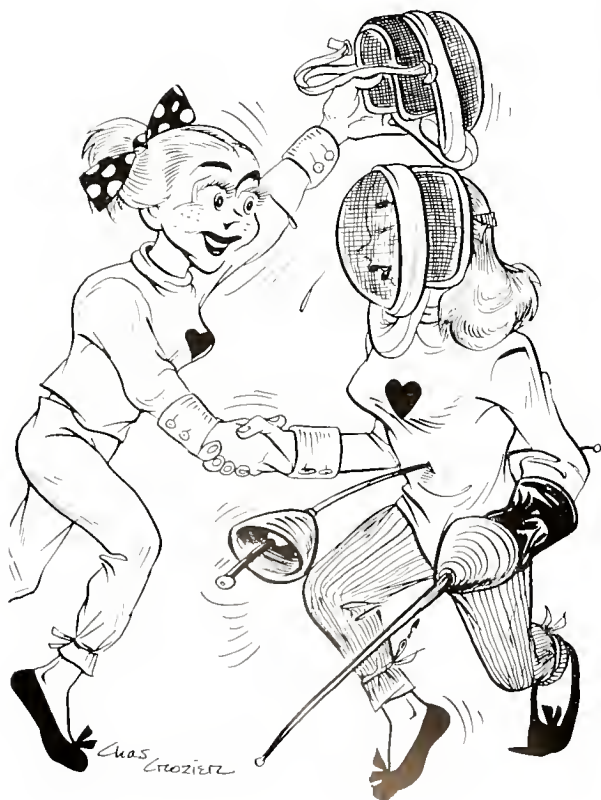

Softball is reserved for the spring season although rain limits the play a great deal. The spirit of all Cincinnati is reflected at the university when the girls grab a ball and bat and begin playing as soon as the season starts.

Penguin Club is composed of the swimmers of W.A.A. Besides sponsoring class meets, the traditional all-university splash parties, and the Playday swimming team, the club presented a swimming pageant at the close of the year. Marian Zeally was president.

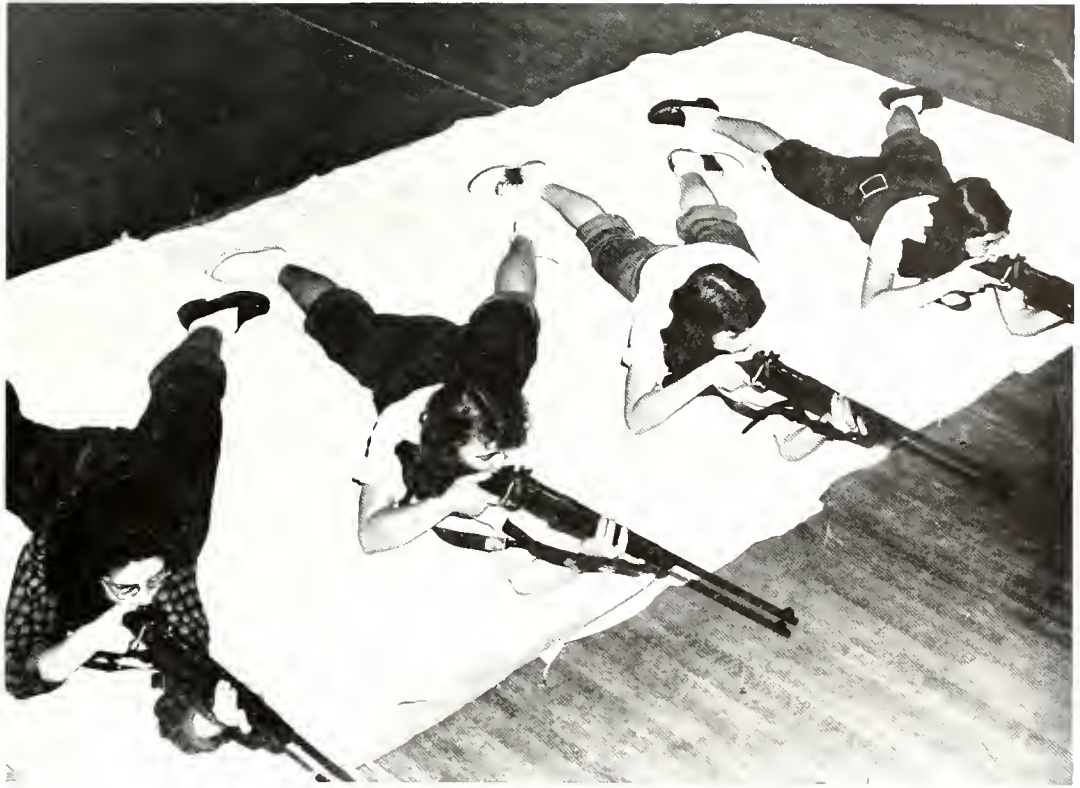

"Shoot!" That was the familiar cry coming from the Women's gym during the winter months of the basketball season. Competition among the leagues was keen and games were cheered on by the tremendous enthusiasm of the teams and the sideline audiences. Inter-collegiate games were a big feature of the season. With the practices and the varsity and intramural games, the gym was kept busy most of the week.

Dance Club with Glenna Bertram at the helm was conducted the year round and participated in several programs on the campus. Graceful and creative dancing replaced the sore muscles and strained ligaments that prevailed in the fall.

"On guard!" When the fencing enthusiasts were practicing and acquiring the skill of the sport, these words circulated through the corridors of the Women's Building. Fencing was conducted during the winter season at the close of which several intercollegiate matches were held.

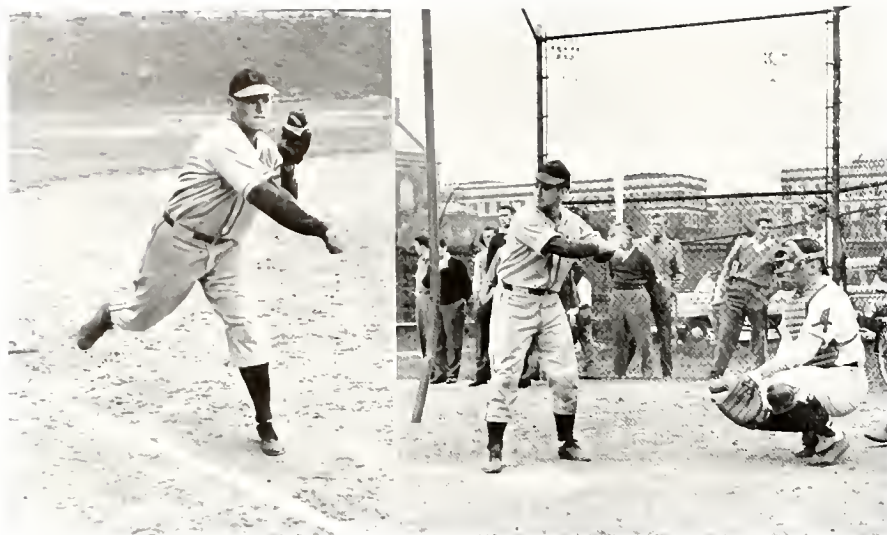

Every Thursday at the ROTC rifle range in the stadium, female sharpshooters attempted to meet the bull's eye with a well-aimed bullet. Intercollegiate matches were fired, although none were "shoulder to shoulder".

One of the most popular fall sports was co-recreational volleyball. Combined sorority, froternity, and independent teams competed strongly within their leagues and during the play-offs to win the honor of the championship.

BASEBALL

The Red and Black baseball aggregation ended the 1947 season with eight wins against eight defeats. The University of Kentucky Wildcats dropped two, as UC cinched the second game in the twelfth, 6-5. Xavier also took it on the chin twice, as Coach Bill Schwarberg's nine were too much for the Muskies in both hitting and fielding.

UC went on a hitting spree against the Dayton Flyers, as the 'Cats smashed out 17 hits for a 15-6 triumph. The outstanding win of the season was the 8-7 decision against Eastern Kentucky, who were handed their first defeat in 12 outings.

Cincinnati was probably at its poorest as they fell 10-1 before Ohio University; Miami (Ohio) outsluged the Bearcats to the tune of 9-5; while Wayne dropped UC twice, 17-9 and 5-4.

Sluggers for the Red and Black were Joe Bargieri, who hit .395 and Owen Ernsthauser, who clubbed the horsehide for an average of .357. Tuck Asbury almost entered the realm of .300 hitters with a .294 average.

TRACK

Soaring to new records in four events, the Bearcat track team split even in eight dual meets and placed eighth in the Ohio College Meet. Butler, Ohio U., Miami, and Wayne topped the Bearcats, while Earlham, Xavier, Western Reserve, and Bowling Green fell victims to Coach O. M. Nikoloff's speedsters.

Fred Redeker ended his tour of duty at UC by breaking the shot put record three times and the discus mark once. The new distances now stand at 47 feet, 1½ inches, and 135 feet, respectively. Redeker was honored at the end of the season by being elected team captain.

Freshman Robert Briggs pounded to new marks twice over the two mile route, reaching the excellent time of 9:56.6. The old record, 10:01.1, had stood for 20 years.

Bob Portune tied the UC standard of six feet, one inch in the high jump, only to see Chuck Perin establish a new record, bettering Portune's mark by one half inch.

A consistent winner in the mile and half mile was Pat Groeniger. Other letter winners were sprinters Bill Fey and Richard Rothfuss; quarter and half miler Howard Higgins; pole vaulter Tom Francis, weight man Rex Hamersley, and hurdler Willard Stargel.

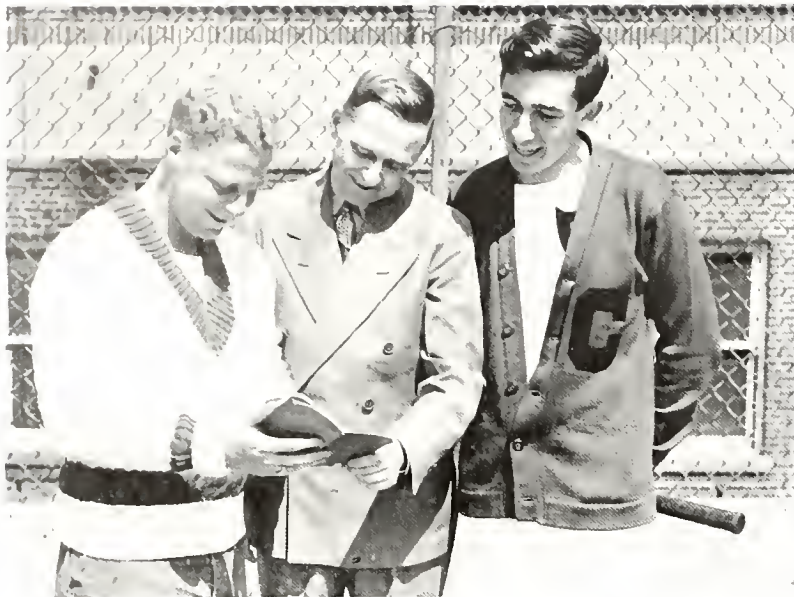

Coach Nikoloff believes that his 1947 aggregation would have shown well against any track team he has ever coached in his long stay at old McMicken.

Coach Brigham looks over the schedule with Manager Irv Behrendt and Player Aron Weinstein.

Charles Brigham has successfully piloted the Red and Black netmen to many hard fought victories during the last two decades, the high point, he admits, being the outstanding 1947 year. The congenial tennis mentor was born and attended high school in West Boylston, Massachusetts. Although concentrating on the baseball diamond during his pre-college days, he captured two tennis letters while attending Clarke University. His coaching career began while teaching in a Baltimore boy's school. A jump to Cincinnati in 1925 was quickly followed by Mr. Brigham's appointment as tennis coach in 1927.

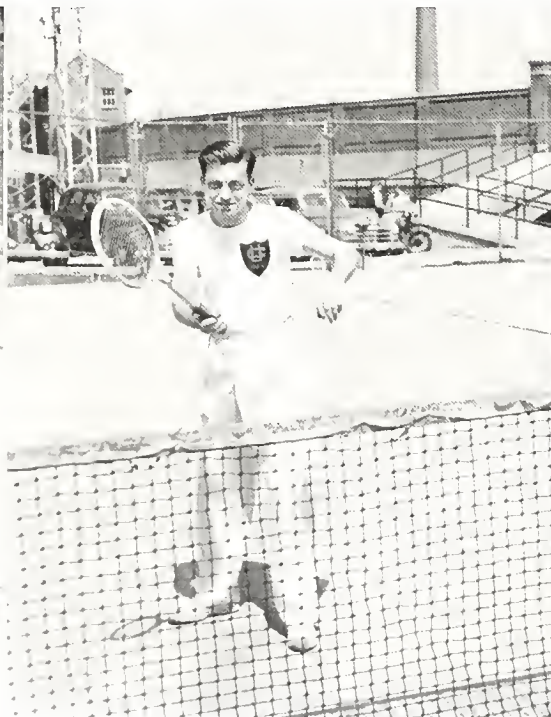

TENNIS

Much credit for the Bearcat's great year on the tennis courts should go to the top three netmen. Leading the versatile racquet wielders, Marshall Chambers graduated from Walnut Hills High School where he was state singles champ two successive years. Born in Sweden, Torgny Haanes held down the two position last year. Crowned National Juniors Double Champ in Oslo, Thorngny completed his first collegiate year at UC in fine style. Alvin Bunis, a graduate of University School, Cincinnati, completes the star studded trio. Coping the District High School Championship in 1940, Al now is ranked third in the Ohio Valley and will be the only letterman not returning for the 1948 season.

Marshall Chambers

Enjoying one of its most successful seasons, the University of Cincinnati tennis squad emerged victorious in eleven matches while dropping one to Michigan State. Coached by Charles Brigham, the Red and Black reached a high in their victories by a 5-4 decision over the defending Big Nine champs, the University of Illinois.

Traveling to Michigan, the Bearcats, led by Captain Marshall Chambers, were nosed out by the Michigan State Spartans, and then went on to stroke their way to victories over Detroit, Wayne, Western Michigan, and Kalamazoo.

With Thorgny Haanes at the No. 2 spot—Al Bunis at the No. 3 slot—and Norman Appel, Charley Thomas, and Ernie Spiller holding down the other three positions, the 'Cats smashed their way to new heights.

Berea, Kentucky, Butler, Kenyon, Xavier, and Miami fell to UC as they ended a great year on the courts.

FENCING

With only three lettermen returning from last year's squad, the Bearcat fencers got off to a slow start, dropping their first three matches. Under the able tutelage of Dr. C. M. Hutchings, however, the Red and Black seemed to have hit their stride by mid-season, when they emerged victorious over Kentucky University and Antioch College on consecutive weekends.

Lack of experience coupled with some excellent opposition from the swordsmen of Michigan State, Notre Dame, and Wayne University, proved disastrous for the Cincymen in the early season competition.

With Captain Ken Baldridge scoring heavily in the Sabre and Foil and Herb Reisenfeld piling up points in the Sabre and Epee, the Bearcat fencers displayed excellent talent in upsetting their favored opponents.

Bill Ungard, Don Poynter, Bob Freemont, and Mike Cunningham are others who showed well for old McMicken. With all these men returning, UC should be represented next season by one of the finest squads in recent years.

ROW I—Cunningham, D. M.; Baldridge, K. P.; Stall, L.; Ungard, W.; Perdama, L.

CAMPUS POLITICS

Campus elections: the sideshow of student life. For weeks before the students deposit their lists of favorites in the ballot box, they are confronted with a litter of propaganda. Posters of everything from babies to gorillas paper the walls and ceilings of the Union and Girll, while slogans appear at every turn from Wilson to the "Y". Smiles, kisses, cigars—you never know what will greet the innocent bystander during the vicious campaigning. "May the best man win," sneers every candidate, and with the arrival of Honor Day new "B. M. O. C.'s" spring up to take their places with the campus "greats."

Gordan "Mae" Reed holds the reigns of the Junior Class. His duties are lightened by Vice President Pam Barry.

Dick Harper adds the presidency of the Senior Class to his lengthy list of activities, while Jean Hock shares honors as the Vice President.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Activities of Student Council touch all organizations on campus. Their Grievance Committee is available to every student. It allows the men and women to air their gripes on any subject, from campus politics to five quizzes on the same day.

Since every student constitution on campus must be submitted to the Council for ratification, it indirectly controls the policies of these groups. In the spring a loose-leaf, mimeographed booklet was printed, in which the constitutions of all the groups appeared in full. So that changes might be recorded, the loose-leaf form was adapted.

How much money is allotted to each organization from the Student Activity Fund is a very important aspect of the Council's activities. By working out this budget, each group is assured of its share of this fund.

When elections turn up in the spring it is the Student Council that manages them fairly so that all the offices are not held by a minority of the students, a revised point system for activities has been completed. Appointments of the editor and business manager of all student publications by the Board of Publications must be approved by the Council, whose influence is felt by everyone on the U.C. campus.

Student Council meetings are called to order by Ray Wuerth who is aptly assisted by Sally Cortright, the vice-president, Jenny Schmid, the secretary, and Bill Castellini, treasurer.

ROW I—Wengler, E.; Cortright, S.; Kach, G.; Schmid, J.; Wuerth, R.
 ROW II—Spade, L.; Castellini, W.; Nenninger, N.; Murphy, G.; Green, B.; Ramsey, A.
 ROW III—Kipp, R.; Stichtenath, W.; Reed, G.; Graham, B.; Wood, R.

Chief among George Koch's many activities was his presidency of the Student Council, one of the highest offices that a student can obtain. His varied duties and individual projects included a seat on the Board of Publications, Student Council committee appointments, the responsibility of seeing that these committees function properly, and a plan for better seating of the students at the football games. Until his entrance into Law School, he served as president of Student Council from the fall of 1947. George Koch is one U.C. product of whom Alma Mater can be justly proud.

WOMEN'S SENATE

ROW I—Koop, J.; Green, B.; Schmid, J.; Silver, F.
ROW II—Vollman, J.; Bord, S.; Nober, J.; Bridges, D.; Sadler, C.
ROW III—Hughes, J.; Woolsey, E.; Kumpf, M.; Dick, L.; Connolly, M.

The Women's Senate is under the able leadership of Betty Greene, the president. Jenny Schmid, the vice-president, Nancy Nenninger, the treasurer, Carol Lee Arnold, the corresponding secretary, and Jean Koop, the recording secretary, enable Betty to perform her duties more efficiently.

All coed organizations on the campus of U.C. place a representative, usually its president, on Women's Senate. This senate finds coordinating women's activities to be an all-year job. The second-hand bookstore in the Student Union is run by members in order to aid the scholarship fund headed by Katherin Ingle, Dean of Women. A strawberry breakfast to honor graduating seniors is given in June, and the Senate also supports Wig Wag and Junior Advisors. This year Women's Senate sponsored Lady Reading, from England, who toured the United States this past winter. Lady Reading spoke on the subject of England during and directly after the blitz of 1940-41 and England at the present time.

Men's Senate is composed of the chosen representatives from most men's organizations on campus. The Senate, along with Women's Senate and Junior Advisors, plans the Orientation Program for freshmen. Acting as aid to the Orientation Board, the Men's Senate plans the freshmen men's orientation, co-operating with the campus YMCA in the matter of Freshmen Mixers. A leadership project, which is to be an annual affair, was started this year and featured leading speakers in the field of business. A pep rally for spring sports is sponsored by the Senate which also handles all men's organizations except those controlled by the faculty or Student Council. On Honor Day in May a plaque is given to the outstanding men's organization on campus, for which honor ASME and Metro tied last year. Reactivation of the "C" Club was the outstanding achievement of the Senate this year. Executive Board, made up of the Senate officers and two members at large, initiate the policies of Men's Senate.

ULEX

Out of the evanescent mists of the empyrean, wafted on the billowy zephyrs, leaping the impermeable abyss to dash itself against the fairy softness, came the murmur, "Ah, ha! What hast thou there?" And incamunicably mournful sighed the answer "Razberrahs." And so, limited against the incarnadined nebulae, they faded and were gone, austere permeated with the myrrhy fragrance—aspiring ever—fading never. Such was our mission.

Bob Siekman wields the gavel in one of the mare active organizations on campus. He is assisted by Byran Kee, who didn't know at the time of this writing, and probably still doesn't know, that he is vice-president, Fred Nathanson, the secretary, Dick Schmadel, the treasurer, and "Legs" Legaley.

Comes a pause—and the dance floor suddenly stands still, crowded with people who anxiously await the big moment of the evening—"Ulex se-lects."

BOATRIDE

Deep in the memory of all is one of the most ancient of U.C.'s customs—the Ulex Boat Ride, filled with “summoning” set to the music of whistling calliope and supplimented with the activity of those who are pinned, others who are just plain lucky, and the rest who waste their time dancing. Little did we know that the spring of '47 was to be the last of such outings for quite some time. For it was the “fatal fall” of the same year that saw the Queen on her last journey of merry-making and folly. Pittsburgh was the scene of the explosion that ended the days of the Island Queen, and brought to a close a chapter of rhythm and sway of a grand old boat that “whooped” her way up the Ohio.

Many found their explorer's blood being aroused as they wandered in and out of the Captain's bridge—tinkering with the paraphernalia there. Others were just looking for a bit of privacy and a topic of conversation as they examined the ship's bell or scurried below deck.

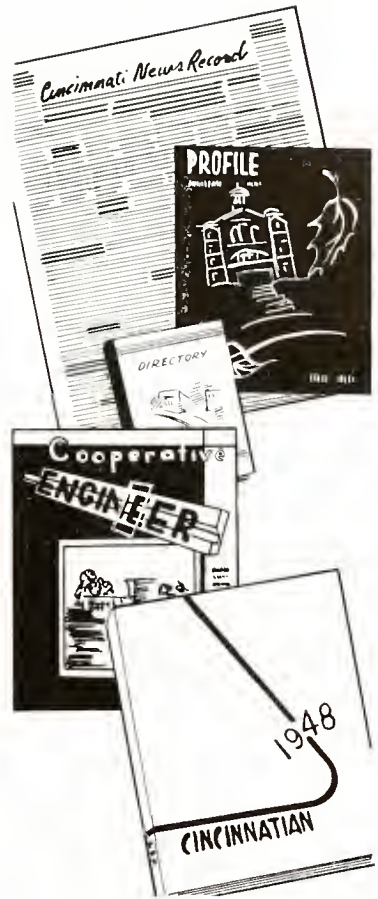

All work seems to pile up, especially during the spring of the year when midnight oil burns brightly along Publications' Row. A pattern of work seems to be the theme when various staffs are catching up on their dreaded deadlines.

BOARD OF PUBLICATIONS

At the monthly meetings of the Board of Publications problems of the various publications are discussed. This group formulates the policies of the student organs of expression on campus, and in the spring chooses the editor and business manager of all publications. This committee is made up of the heads of the "Cincinnatian", "News Record", and "Profile", two representatives from Student Council, Dean Auburn, Professor Sharrock, and Mr. DeCamp. The very high rating in national competition that U.C.'s publications are awarded testify to the common sense of the Board's decisions.

The Monday afternoon confusion of the News Record office is due to that fabulous slave-driver, the deadline. Pity the poor embryo journalist as he tries to type the story that he chased around campus all day, interrupted every ten minutes with amazing regularity. The copy is finally in, the ads set up. Proofreading, hurried calls to the printer, the discussions on the problems of white space, all adding to the noise of the typewriter, help to convey the illusion of work. Finally, the week's work is done, the edition is in the printer's hands, and the various staffs retire to Ship's for a brew.

The lights burning in the Cincinnatian office every so often to the small hours are merely an indication of the Cincinnatian staff's "deadline days"—and nights. Looking around for the wandering members of the copy staff and finding them in serious debate on the international situation, the exasperated copy editor gets only the answer—"Copy—what Copy? Oh, that—I thought that you said it wouldn't be due for another two or three weeks". The art editor finds that the people who were supposed to be cutting pictures have taken up the art of cutting paper dolls. The business of attaching the right names to the right faces, checking, rechecking, dialing, arranging, rehashing—it goes far into the night.

COOPERATIVE ENGINEER

Staff members gather around Editor Alex Stolley to complete their plans for the spring issue.

Now in its twenty-sixth year of publication, "The Cooperative Engineer" has gained national prominence for itself through its articles and layout. Last year, to celebrate its twenty-fifth year, the staff published articles and pictures from its first edition in 1922. Published quarterly by and for the Engineering students, the magazine features special articles of interest—Quadrangle Sidelites (gossip column) and new products in the field of engineering. At least once a year, the staff has a general get-together. The first of this year's round was held in the Rathskeller of Roselawn Tavern sometime in the early part of December. The "exploring" parties had a gay time finding out what held up the building; but were frustrated in their attempts to find out the contents of strange and solidly locked rooms. Many past staff members also appeared on the scene and were welcomed into the fold after "proper" introductions were made.

ROW I—Jacobs, J.; Tidball, J.; Frost M.; McCartney, J.; Adams, W.
ROW II—Dannelly, R.; Schrieyer, M.; Hemmert, R.; Aman, A.; Scharfenberger, I.; Bailey, R.

PROFILE

Once again the "Profile" has changed hands in the middle of the stream so to speak. This shuffling of staffs occurred early enough in the year to give the new editor plenty of time to burn the mid-night oil, and the Spring issue went to press on time. An over abundance of good material has kept the Profile in the eyes of the public this year. Originality flows to a maximum in the office at the end of "Publications Row". The magazine had come a long way since it first started out as a little literary pamphlet a quarter of a century ago, and the way things look today, it's still travelling a well-paved road to bigger and better "Profiles" in the months and years to come.

Intent on Gerry Murphy's spring issue layout are Harvey Zwerin, Jim Jacobs, and Irv Scharfenberger.

STUDENT DIRECTORY

Smiles are in order as Margaret Smith, Joyce Sheppard, Claire Gunderman, Shirley Frame, and Jean Miller find themselves nearing the completion of another Student Directory.

Immediately after fall registration, the Dean of Men's and Dean of Women's offices were overrun by a horde of wild-eyed students armed with pen and paper. After the smoke of confusion had cleared, these same students could be seen behind a pile of registration cards, wielding the pen to the cards and pausing every few moments to ponder over a particularly "tough" one. "Let's see, is that a two or a . . . no, it looks like a three." "Hand me the phone book, will you?" "Do you think we'll have all these copied by the time Section II registers?" "Anybody got some more cards?" and so on, into the waning hours of the afternoon. After going through various stages of writer's cramp and eye strain, the cards were typed and sent to the printer's, from which emerged the "Little Red Book"—the 1947-1948 Student Directory, with approximately 7,500 names in it. A lot of work had gone into the making of this small book that no real "operator" would be found dead without.

SIGMA SIGMA

At the close of the Interfraternity Sing and during the half of the Miami game, Sigma Sigma summoned seven men. The new members are Robert Bauman, Bert Bauer, Charles Crozier, Robert Fenlon, Allen Richards, Robert Siekman, and John Strubbe.

Sigma Sigma's Thanksgiving game pep rally has become as much of a tradition at U.C. as their Carnival, and it never fails to raise the spirit of all at U.C.

SIGMA SIGMA CARNIVAL

Highly scented co-eds leave the glitter of the Alpha Chi Omega perfume booth.

"Take a chance, its only one thin dime. You can't lose!" As these crys echo throughout the Great Hall of the Union, hundreds jam the highly decorated booths and stand entranced as the tremendous Sigma Sigma Carnival unfolds before their eyes. All campus organizations, independents and fraternities, vie for the trophy signifying the most popular, attractive, and original booths. Bright Lights flash as the spots play on a professional circus high wire act. Couples slowly turn away to dance to the melodious rhythm of a fine band.

A holiday spirit prevails even though exams are close at hand. Everyone glances expectantly at their tickets, as door prizes are given away every half hour. A somber note is struck as the hands of the clock slowly bring the evenings' festivities to a close.

In the ticket office, anxious hands total the receipts to be sure there is enough to finance the new football scoreboard, while expectant Sigma Sigma officials contemplated next year's great carnival.

Those who had always aspired toward having their name in print realized their ambitions when the Tri Deltas were equipped to run off a copy of the De'ta Tri-bunal.

No wonder that everyone was smoking and the Carnival looked like a game preserve, the Chi O's were running a numbers game and paying off in cigarettes and ducks.

Profiles were profuse as the Kappas sat their customers behind a sheet and painted "Silly-ettes". Their talents were rewarded by a cup for the cleverest booth.

SIGMA SIGMA

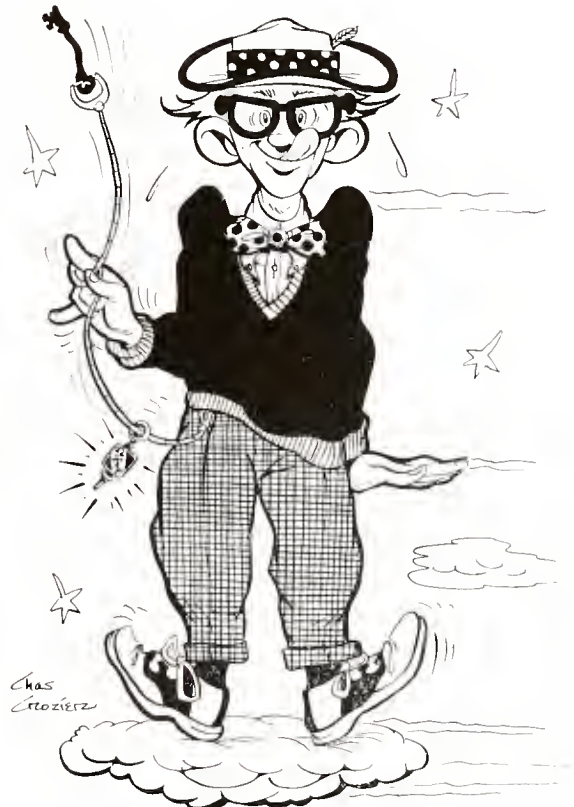

Twice a month in "ye olde Heuck Hall" there is a casual meeting of Sigma Sigma. The meeting formally opens, proceeds, and closes 'til the wee hours of the morning with card playing and beer drinking, interrupted briefly for the planning of the annual Sigma Sigma carnival and pep rallies. Some of their accomplishments for this year include the adding of autographs to the ceiling, new linoleum for the floor, and finally washing their mugs (beer, that is) after four years. The officer's mugs are reserved for Bob Bauman, R. A. Cromer, Bob Fenlon, and the coke bottle for George Koch.

HONOR DAY

May finds Mortar Board's Betty Green and ODK's Bob Corcoran the busiest people on campus as the program for another Honor Day is on order.

Honor Day is almost self-explanatory. Honoring outstanding students and organizations, the list is one of considerable length. Highlighting the program was Mortar Board's presentation of scholarships to the outstanding senior high school girl in Greater Cincinnati, and to the outstanding college junior. The Engineering Tribunal awarded a ring to the outstanding senior engineer, while the Business Administration Tribunal award was a gold watch. WAA presented the coveted "C" ring to the best all-round senior girl in the university, and the outstanding athlete was awarded the ODK trophy. The $300 Alfred M. Cohen Award was presented by the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation to the student contributing most to inter-faith goodwill on campus. English prizes included a Strauss poetry prize, a Literary Club essay prize, and a Literary Club short story prize. Capping the presentations of awards, the officers of the senior and junior classes were announced.

ROW I (Seated)—Konost, B.; Woolsey, E. J.; Hock, J.; Romsey, A.; Schmid, J.; ROW II (Standing)—Ahlering, F.; Green, B.; Kline, R.; Justice, ;F. Rodenberg, E.; Trefzger, P.

MORTAR BOARD

Officers of Mortar Board, who are active through graduation, are headed by the able president Jean Hock. Jean is assisted by Anne Romsey, vice-president; Jenny Schmidt, secretary; Edna J. Woolsey, treasurer; Borbara Jo Kanast, historian.

March 13 found a group of hooded girls winding their way over the entire campus and ending up in the crowded Great Hall for the annual tapping of Mortar Board. To be selected by this national honor society is the highest honor which can be bestowed upon an upperclass girl at U.C.

Whether it be a Donut Day Sale, or the task of trimming the goal post for a football game, Mortar Board tackles each with the same energy and enthusiasm. Among the various activities which have become a tradition with the U.C. chapter is the Smarty Party for Dean's List students and faculty, and Honor Day with ODK. To the list of old established activities, they have added the Plaster Board Ball in the last two years. At this time, deserving BMOC's find themselves being wined and dined—all at the expense of Mortar Board.

Row I—Stuewe, A.; Johnson, R.; Horper, H.; Frazer, J.; Ahrens, A.
ROW II—Griest, H.; Spiers, D.; Bursiek, R.; Alderman, W.; Butler, R.; Holliday, J.; Koch, G.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

Efficient president of O.D.K. is Dick Harper who is obly assisted by Bob Corcoran, vice-president; Bob Johnson, secretary; and Roy Frederick, treasurer.

Twice a year the outstanding upperclassmen on the U.C. campus are elected to membership in Omicron Delta Kappa. This national honor society for men recognizes leaders in college athletics, scholarship, religious and social organizations, music and dramatics, and publications. Monthly meetings, which vary from informal smokers to banquets, bring together bath undergraduate and faculty leaders. Each fall O.D.K. acts as host when parents throng to the campus for the traditional Dad's Day game and programs, while spring is climaxed by co-sponsoring Honor Day with Mortar Board. At this time, the O.D.K. trophies for scholarship and the oustanding athlete are presented.

The day is not over for the Evening College student when he leaves his day-time job. Classes still remain to be attended. The Evening College student finds his college life quite different from that of the day students. For their activities, he must substitute a job, and for their four or five year courses, he substitutes a college term stretching over many years. The road is not easy and the students who come to school at night find their graduating class very small in comparison to all those who started to work on their degree or certificate in this manner.

The biggest week of our college lives comes when the month of June announces that Senior week is upon us. Suddenly confronted with decisions of what to wear and when, how to be two places at once, and whether to keep or dispose of UC memoirs, we turn our backs to the half-packed suitcases that litter the room and head for the next activity scheduled for this momentous week. The Senior prom, the sing, Ivy day, not to mention graduation, take on an entirely different aspect as we realize that we are now one of the people who will our red hair, "Phi Bait" Keys, or physics grades to aspiring underclassmen.

SENIOR WEEK

SENIOR PROM

The crowd pauses briefly to listen to the songs of the Tobies.

We all turned out en masse for our last dance as undergrads of the University—and a memorable occasion it was! A new custom was born that evening when Jack Shepman of '47 presented a senior ring to Dick Harper of the still struggling class of '48. Their heirloom-to-be of the senior class will remain for one season on the hand of the class president. Following the ring ceremony, the Metro School Spirit Award was carried away by Delta Phi Epsilon and Sigma Alpha Epsilon for their record attendance at all school functions. Adding also to the color of the prom were the echoes of the "Tobies" as they sang their old stand-by, "The Wiffenpoof Song".

A tired but contented crowd wended their way home that June eve with the music of the last dance still ringing in their ears.

Sophos summoned underclassmen Don Thomas, Howard Eicher, Bob Boumon, Irv Behrendt, and Roger Stephens.

The "Ivy Chain," composed of outstanding Junior girls, guide the rabed Seniors to the ceremonies in Burnet Woods.

Ivy is carefully planted by Jack Shepman, president of the class of 1947.

IVY DAY

The picture of Ivy Day at UC includes a winding procession that begins at old McMicken and wends its way through the trails of Burnet Woods until it ends at the band stand deep in the heart of the park. Here the Senior Class Prophecy and Will are read that the world and posterity might know the whims and ambitions of the graduating class. Through the wooded paths they find their way back to campus and the Union Building to receive again the traditional Ivy Day Oration by a member of their class. A small green plant is then placed in the ground to grow and prosper beside the other sprouting ivy that has remained from years before.

All eyes focus on the expressive hands of the song leader as another cup is sung for.

Gilda Jensen holds the cups won by Kappa Kappa Gamma, while Claire Kennedy smiles from behind the trophy that is to leave the Phi Delta house no longer.

Grill hours were cut short and bridge games came to an abrupt halt as everyone adjourned to their respective houses to sing again and again the same three songs that became a near nightmare by the time June rolled around. However to the judges and Clifton suburbanites that gathered in the Greek amphitheater, these same songs sounded like something out of a dream. Competition was close and judging was hard. After a period of deliberation that seemed like hours to the participants, Mr. Sarvis gave the laurels to Kappa Kappa Gamma and Phi Delta Theta.

INTERFRATERNITY SING

Blue blazers, white skirts, three rehearsed-to-death songs, and seventy pairs of shaky knees—the Kappas were ready to win the sing.

"Singin' a Phi Delta Theta," chanted the possessors of the Sing cup for two consecutive years as they marched on to the platform to win the sing for the third time and the cup for posterity.

Caught unawares, the Kappas couldn't conceal their excitement. Those long months of song practices were not in vain!

GRADUATION

The long day is brought to a pompous close when the capped and gowned procession finally wends its way into brightly lighted Nippert Stadium. The climax of Senior week has arrived, and the long awaited eve of our college days is close at hand.

President Walters—the figure who welcomes all incoming Freshmen is also the man whose address closes the door to their college careers.

President Walter's speech adds dignity to the ceremonies, and one by one the entries on the program progress to the presentation of degrees. Colored stoles are awarded as the high degrees are bestowed upon graduate students. Finally it is your turn to share the spotlight, and you find a diploma in your hand and a group of friends offering their congratulations.

The seats of roaring football crowds now are filled with the more quiet parents and friends of the graduating class. The crowd no longer rises to its feet as the sons of Old McMicken carry a football and their school to fame. Instead, mothers and fathers sit quietly by, suddenly realizing what a strange grown-up human being their child has become. The words of President Walter's address somehow are mixed with memories of years ago—the first day of school, a leading part in the senior play, a whole new college wardrobe, and now, a cap and gown. All minds are not filled with quiet recollections however. The thoughts jamming a graduate's mind hold only the celebration that is to follow.

... And we see the beginning of a new day.

Your future can start today!

YOUR INITIAL start in the engineering field will affect your entire future . . . it will shape you and your career, and will determine today your status in this field for years to come. We have a number of excellent positions, principally in research, for the right men. These positions are for career men, capable of working ahead to the top of their profession. We want men who are able to do creative research in unexplored fields—men who have no desire for monotonous, routine work.

Consider these important facts: the oldest aircraft manufacturing company in continuous service in the country, and one of the largest. A modern plant, with excellent facilities and equipment. Expert personnel, good working conditions, located in a suburban area of a centrally located city on the east coast.

We are working on varied types of research. In jet propulsion, guided missiles, supersonic aircraft, electronics, military planes, commercial transports, and in several other fields, including materials and alloys, television and plastics. Our huge new plastics plant has just started in production.

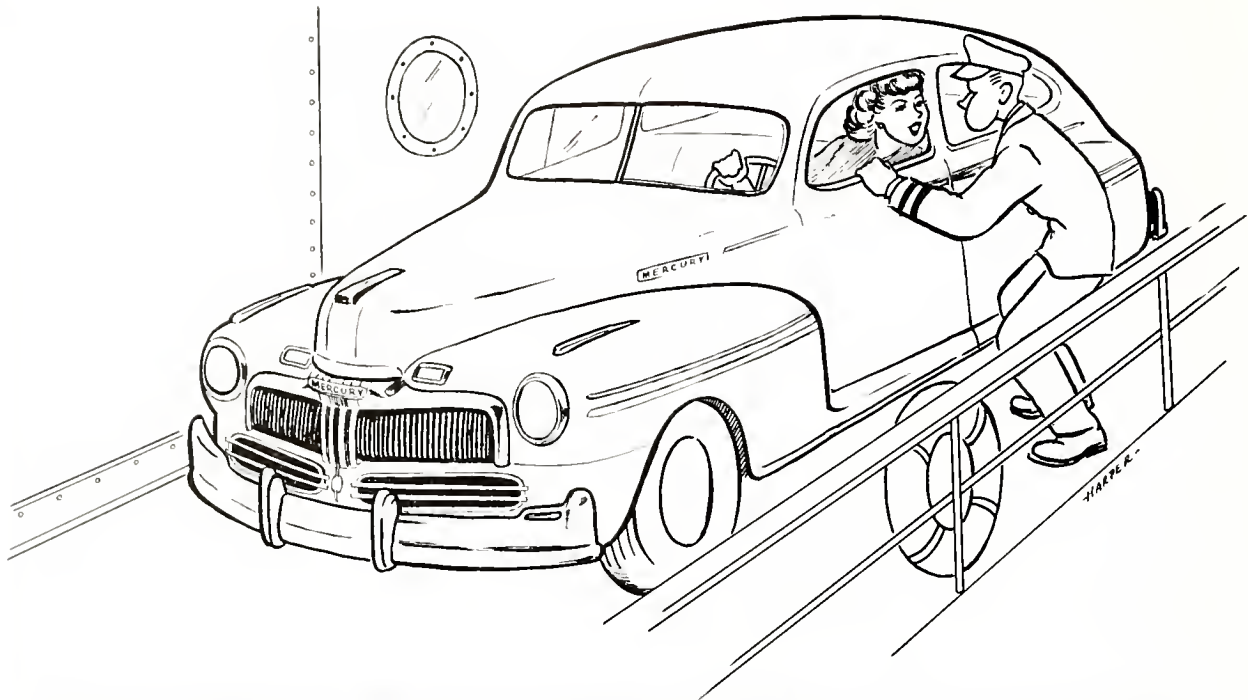

If you can keep pace in a strong company noted for its progress, start your future now. Find out the opportunities we can offer. Write, outlining your background, your interests and plans, to Technical Employment Section, The Glenn L. Martin Company, Baltimore 3, Md.

"I'm all set, Pop. got a job with the telephone company . . . good pay . . . steady work . . . chance to get ahead. Ya know, telephone people must like their work the way they stay with it."

Students of the University:

For over 50 years the Cincinnati Street Railway has provided convenient, dependable service for you. It has become a part of U. C. tradition—the Crosstown, the Clifton-Hughes bus, the term “streetcar college,” all tie the Cincinnati Street Railway to the University. Through its facilities this campus has been made accessible to the whole city. We feel that it has played an important part in the development of the University.

Every REALTOR is a business man—a good business man or he wouldn't be allowed to use the professional title of REALTOR. Naturally he's in business to make a profit but—he places service to his clients above and before profit.

Service Before Profit!

A real estate man must make that pledge before he can be a REALTOR. And he lives up to it, not only because the rules governing REALTORS are enforced, but because in the long run, it's a good business to practice.

A good business practice for you is to place your real estate affairs in the hands of a REALTOR, because a REALTOR must have experience, ability, integrity, and follow a golden rule code of business ethics. When you make sure your Real Estate man is a REALTOR, you are making sure of complete satisfaction.

Look for REALTOR in classified ads, in the phone book and on business stationery.
